World Population Growth Nears 1.3 Million a Week

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN

NEW YORK (AP) - How fast is the world growing?

It is growing by about 2.2 persons per second, 132 per minute, 190,000 per day and over 1.3 million a week.

These statistics, from the World Population Data Sheet, which contains a nation-by-nation survey of current population figures for 137 countries and territories compiled mainly from United Nations sources, means that by July 1 this year, the world's population would reach 3.551 billion persons.

That amount -- enough to fill 35,000 football stadiums, each accommodating 100,000 fans -- would be 72 million more than a year earlier. Forty years ago, the world's population was accelerating by only about 200 million each year.

The rate of world population, according to the Population Reference Bureau which released the Data Sheet, has been moving up for the 2,000 years. The first billion mark was reached about 1800; the two billion milestone was passed about 1930. It was expected to pass the four billion mark by 1975.

A major problem in determining world population, however is Communist China, which contains more than a fifth of the global population. United Nations stratistics give China a population of 740 million, but other estimates exceed the U.N. figure by 50 million and more. Other contradictory figures indicate that even the Chinese do not know how many of them there are.

The world's fastest growing country? Costa Rica, with a birth rate of 45 and a death rate of seven, per 1,000 population per year. Its ration of six births to one death contrasts with a 2-to-1 ratio for the world as a whole.

On a worldwide basis, 3.9 babies are born every second in 1969, while just under 1.7 people die, for a gain of 2.2 persons.

More babies are born daily in the so-called "have-not" nations in Asia, Latin America and Africa than in the "have" nations, comprising Europe, the Soviet Union, North America, Australia, New Zealand and Japan. Of each day's world total of 331,000 babies born, only 51,000 are born in the industrailized areas and more than five times as many in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Three African countries report the highest birth rates -- the Ivory Coast with 56 and Togo and Guinea each with 55. Hungary has the lowest birth rate with only 14.6.

Interestingly, Romania had a birth rate of 14.3 in 1966, but after abortions were declared illegal in 1967, the birth rate hit 27.1 -- the highest in Europe, with the exception of Albania.

Sweden has the lowest rate of infant morality in the world, followed by the Nehterlands, Iceland and Finland. The United States ranks 16th, with the Soviet Union tied for 23rd with Hong Kong and Singapore in this category of babies born who died before their first birthday. Generally, the lower the infant mortality rate, the longer the life expectancy.

Five Breakins In Charleston

CHARLESTON -- Thieves who broke into Nicholena's Restaurant Sunday night, in one of five Charleston burglaries, came out with the night's biggest haul - a 10-pound roast - and the enjoyment of several thick roast beef sandwiches -- prepared while in the cafe.

They also took along with them a 10-pound roast. Lewis Mor, who leases the cafe, said that a wall clock was stopped at 4.50 a.m., probably the time the men were in the cafe. Candy in a mint jar was thrown on the floor.

In other breakins the H. & H. Auto Part Supply House, owned by J. W. Huckstep, lost some flashlights and wire grip pliers to persons who entered through the rear door. The thieves attempted to saw open, then peel the sides of the company safe, but were unsuccessful in securing any money.

Next door to the H. & H. Supply, The Fashion Beauty Shop was ransacked and littered with paper, but nothing was found to be missing.

An attempted breakin was flaunted due to the presence of a huge, old-fashioned window fan that blocked entry, after the thieves had suceeded in getting in a outside window.

150 Volunteers to Work In Palsy Drive Thursday

"Every 53 minutes a Cerebral Palsy child is born and Cerebral Palsy just doesn't happen to an infant - it also happens to a whole family," Miss Pauline Poeppelmeyer said today in announcing the 1969 Sikeston house-to-house appeal for funds that will be made Thursday from 6 p.m. to 6:53 p.m.

The final phase of the health agency's current drive to raise $1,500 is being carried to every residential and business section in Sikeston by more than 150 volunteers.

Heading up the drive in Sikeston are: Miss Pauline Poeppelmeyer, Sikeston Campaign Chairman; Mrs. W. L. Clayton, Director of the "Sing Out" Group who will make the 53 Minute March from house - to - house Thursday; Mrs. William C. Shell, Beta Sigma Phi Chairman for the Drive, who will contact all businesses in town this week, and Mr. Clyde Wilson, who, with other members of the Elks Club, will maintain a road block in Sikeston Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Miss Poeppelmeyer said cerebral palsy is a complex medical, physical, psychological and economic and emotional problem which every member of the family must face. For the child with cerebral palsy, she continued, the most important part of his environment is his family -- parents, brothers, and sisters.

United Cerebral Palsy helps such families by directing them to qualified medical assistance, by making available apropriate therapies, by offering opportunities for training and education.

Public Hearings To Precede Council Meet

The second item will be to add a new subsection 5 to read: "It shall be unlawful to locate end-house trailer, mobile type or transportable type home in any residentially zoned district within the city of Sikeston."

News Briefs

Attempted Rape Reported

Two Scott County 16-year-old Negro youths are in the county jail at Benton accused of attempting to rape a Haywood City woman about 2 p.m. Sunday.

Sheriff John Dennis said the woman, 31, unidentified, was sleeping in her home when the boys raised a window and entered the house. The woman's son came shortly thereafter and knocked on the front door. The woman hollered and told him to kick the door in. At that point the boys left the premises through the window.

The youths were arrested at 9 a.m. Sunday in Haywood City by deputy Jack Stewart.

Rescue Vehicle Damaged

The Sikeston Fire Department reported to police Sunday that someone had shot the windshield of the rescue ambulance with a BB gun. The windshield on Fireman Jack Grosbeck's car was also damaged.

A fire was reported to firemen Sunday afternoon at 108 Comstock Drive, the residence of R. N. Vaughn. A dresser in a bedroom had caught fire. It was thrown out a window before any major damage occurred.

Accident Kills One

Trudy Lorene Monroe, 54, route two, Wappapello, was killed sometime late Sunday night, one mile west of Lake Wappapello, when her can apparently ran off of a parking area down a steep rock ledge and struck a tree.

The body was found at 11:30 p.m. by members of the corps of engineers, stationed at the dam.

Her body was taken to Greer-Croy Funeral Home in Poplar Bluff.

To Rebuild Sale Barn

Leznie Beck announced today that the tentative plans for the Sikeston Sale barn owners include the rebuilding of a new facility by September to replace the barn destroyed in a fire recently. Beck and McCord currently have resumed the auction of automobiles at the old site on Wednesdays.

Cape Police Seek Four Suspects in Shooting

Cape Girardeau police today were seeking to establish the identity of four men who allegedly shot and robbed Jerry Knobel, 31, of St. Louis, after stopping him at the foot of the Cape Bridge at 3:22 a.m. Sunday morning.

Cape Records show that Knobel, presently employed as a construction supervisor on the building of a new osteopathic hospital at Chaffee, pulled up in front of a Cape cab stand and told a driver that he had been shot twice and robbed of a wallet containing $60 and some valuable papers.

The records show that a cab company employee rushed Knobel to the Southeast Missouri Hospital at Cape, where he was reported in "good condition" early Monday morning.

One of the investigating officers told a Daily Standard reporter today that he "planned to visit with Knobel this afternoon, since the doctors say he is doing well enough to be subjected to some questioning."

The investigating officer, after checking the Cape police report, said that Knobel suffered a great deal of bleeding from the two wounds, made by .22 calibre bullets, apparently delivered at close range. He said that one of the bullets entered Knobel's chest, the other went into his stomach.

U.S. Command Holds Up Bombing Reports

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command is withholding reports of damage the B52 bombers are inflicting in their campaign along the Cambodian border, the heaviest of the Vietnam war.

About 300 of the big bombers have rained $18 million worth of bombs along the frontier in the past two weeks, but there has been no official announcement of any results.

"We have no bomb damage assessment to report," the U.S. briefing officer says each day.

Informants said U.S. forces are constantly assessing the B52 strikes, ut information officers for the U.S. Command have been instructed not to discuss damage assessment. The official line is that disclosure of such information would compromise American methods of gathering intelligence.

Some informants are skeptical, however. They said one reason for the official silence is that the U.S. Command fears an unfavorable public reaction to the skimpy results confirmable in relation to the money spent.

"We found some enemy bodies," said one officer, "at least four or five here and there."

But Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, nd the Strategic Air Command consider the B52s a vital weapon in the war. Officers say the huge bombers harass enemy troops, deny them sanctuaries, keep them on the run nd prevent them from getting organized for an offensive.

"Harassment of troops is our biggest accomplishment," said one B52 officer. "We don't let them get organized."

Three North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions are the primary targets in the current campaign. The raids have struck at base campus in War Zone C, including bunker complexes, trenches and stockpiles of munitions and other supplies.

"We're not able to show you enemy bodies killed by the B52s," said one infantry officer. "But they've denied refuge to enemy troops in areas where you'd have to go in with ground troops and suffer men killed and wounded."

Four more B52 raids in War Zone C were reported today. Twenty-five Stratofortresses dumped 750 tons of bombs on enemy bunker complexes and storage areas, the U.S. Command reported.

A ground clash also was reported in War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Calvary Division ran into 150 North Vietnamese who opened fire from bunkers. American fighter - bombers put the enemy to flight after an hour's fight. The bodies of three North Vietnamese were left behind. Four Americans were killed and seven were wounded.

The U.S. Command also announced that five helicopters and one Air National Guard F100 fighter - bomber were lost over the weekend, killing eleven Americans and wounding six.

The reported helicopter losses for the Vietnam war now total 2,595 while the fixed - wing aircraft losses reported are 2,682.

House to Hold Night Session

JEFFERSON ITY (AP) — The Missouri House has scheduled a third night session today in an effort to clear away some of the great mass of legislation on its calendar.

Night sessions were held last Tuesday and Wednesday after long days of debate. The Tuesday night session was productive because 30 bills were passed and sent to the Senate.

The Wednesday night session appeared headed for a blowup so it was adjourned after only 10 bills were passed.

The House still has about 300 bills on its calendar and only 15 or 20 of them are Senate bills. The rest are House measures with the long end of their legislative obstacle course still ahead. The Senate has about half as many bills ready for debate and only 15 are House bills. Both Houses are stuck with heavy workloads in the weeks ahead. The June 30 legislative deadline now is eight weeks off.

The House may try once more to give first round approval to the last of the major appropriation bills. At issue now is the bill to finance the

Charleston City Judge Fines Five

CHARLESTON - Robert Wiggin, a parole violator of East Prairie, was handed the stiffest fine of any of the five persons who appeared before City Judge July Shelby this morning.

Judge Shelby sentenced Wiggin to serve 10 days for the violation, and then added total fines of $132 on four counts, including driving while intoxicated, speeding, running a red light and careless driving.

Rodney Chambers of Charleston was fined $17 on a charge of speeding and passing at an intersection; Ethel Simmons, Charleston, paid $16 for failure to yield the right of way; Melvin Moss of Cairo paid a $15 fine for disorderly conduct and Marshall George, also of Charleston, was fined $20 for being drunk and disorderly.

Fortas Denies Magazine Article Fee Implications

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas received a $20,000 fee from the family of industrialist Louis E. Wolfson three months after he was seated on the Supreme Court and did not return the money until 11 months later, according to Life magazine.

Fortas confirmed Sunday that he was offered and considered a fee but flatly denied that he accepted or that he stepped in to help Wolfson, a former client who went to jail last month on a federal securities law conviction.

The justice said he returned the fee, "tendered" in 1966, "with my thanks." His statement, issued at the court after he had read an advance copy of the Life article, did not say how large the fee was or when he returned it.

Life's account was that the Wolfson Family Foundation, a tax-free charitable organization set up by Wolfson and his brothers, paid Fortas $20,000 in January 1966, three months after he was sworn in as an associate justice.

The article, by William Lambert, said Fortas returned the money in December 1966, three months after the financial tycoon and his longtime business associate, Elkin Gerbert, had been indicted on charges of selling a large block of unregistered stock in a company Wolfson and Gerbert controlled.

Life said "whatever services he may or may not have rendered to the foundation, Justice Fortas' name was being

Court Agrees to Review Voter Residency Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court agreed today to review state residency requirements for voting for president.

The action, setting a hearing for next term, follows the court's holding that states cannot set residency requirements for welfare assistance.

The voting case, which covers somewhat the same ground, was brought to the court by a Colorado lawyer and his wife who said some five million people were kept from voting in the United States last year because of residence requirements.

The lawyer, Richard Hall of Colorado Springs, said these laws can be decisive in close presidential elections such as the race last year, and therefore the Supreme Court should pass judgment.

In other actions today, the court:

-Threw out an Illinois law requiring independent candidate for statewide political office to be nominated by voters in at least 50 of the state's 102 counties.

-Refused a hearing to a Miami man who claimed the telephone company had no right to listen in and see if he was cheating on long-distance calls. He has been convicted of defrauding the company.

Hall and his wife, Christine, appealed following a ruling by a three - judge federal court in Denver last December that Colorado's residence requirements are reasonable.

The Halls had been unable to vote in November because they had moved into the state recently from Lafayette, Calif. They also were not allowed to vote in California.

To vote in Colorado one has to be a resident of the state at least six months, of the city or county at least 90 days and of the voting precinct at least 15 days.

The Halls told the court in their appeal that "any restrictions placed upon the right to vote should be closely scrutinized and carefully confined." They recalled that "This court has repeatedly held that the right to vote is a fundamental right in a free and democratic society."

East Prairie Man Faces Three Court Charges

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Alfred Thomas Hendrix of East Prairie, charged with three counts of violation of the Interstate Commerce Act, will face a court jury in Cape Girardeau Federal Court tomorrow. He is represented by Weber Gilmore, of Gilmore and Gilmore, Sikeston attorneys.

The three charges against Hendrix include failing to keep a record of a physical examination, made by a licensed physician; failure to keep a daily driver's log and failing to maintain a systematic inspection and maintanance record for a motor vehicle under his control while engaged in interstate transportation.

The opening ceremonies of the court will include the granting of citizenship to some five area residents. Included is Marga Leach of Sikeston, a native of Riga, Latvia.

Police Arrest Husband, Wife For Tampering Investigation

A Kirkwood man and his wife are in custody at Sikeston City Jail for investigation of tampering with at least five pay telephone booths in the city Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Police Chief Arthur Bruce said this morning that James H. Hampton, 31, and Mary Francis Hampton, 30, were arrested early Sunday morning after they had allegedly broken into the phone coin box at East Side Shell Service Station on East Malone Ave. They were stopped about 1:15 a.m. by Officer Bobbie Norman.

Police were awaiting a search warrant this morning before going through the couple's car. Bruce said police at Morehouse and Malden had reported to his department that several phone booths in those towns also had been broken into during the weekend. He said police at Kirkwood also suspect the couple of breaking into numerous phone booths in that city.

"They were just making the rounds, apparently," Chief Bruce said.

Some tools and a homemade key were found on the man that could be used to break into coin boxes. Bruce suspects that some change will be found in the car when searched.

The coin box of the pay telephone outside Center Street Sinclair Service Station was found later Sunday morning by police after it had been pulled about half-way out of the telephone. There was $96.50 in the box. Leonard's Shell Service on West Malone; one near the International Shoe Factory and one located on Brannum Street.

Bruce said the suspects will be turned over to Scott County authorities for prosecution.

Other persons reported arrested during the weekend were Henry Dunning, School Street, who is charged with public intoxication, resisting arrest and destroying private property; Jerry Robertson, 521 South Kingshighway, disorderly conduct, assault and public intoxication; James Wren Jr., 237 Washington, public intoxication, and Ancell C. Gross, Sikeston, public intoxication.

Other arrests reported were Thurman Watson, 313 Sunset, absent without leave from the Army; Bobby R. Robison, Berkley, careless and imprudent driving and disorderly conduct; Charles Evans, 327 Luther, public intoxication, and Eddie W. Childers, 211 Edward, failure to wear protective headgear.

Optimist Elect Schade To Zone Lt. Gov. Post

Schade, who has over 26 years in Optimist International, was charter president of the Jackson club, and is a charter member of the Sikeston club, organized in January, 1966. He holds a perfect weekly attendance record in each club. The office becomes effective Oct. 1, a change in the new fiscal year.

The International convention will be held in Bal Harbour, Fla. about 2,500 clubs, with a membership of over 250,000 will be represented on June 22-26.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

THE REAL PICTURE OF MOTHER TODAY

The traditional image of Mother is blurred and distorted by the many-faceted glare of modern life, until it seems as schizophrenic as a Picasso print. Mother herself must be confused at times, by all she reads and sees and hears about what is expected of her.

She must be a glamour girl, of course, if she accepts the ideas thrust at her. She must tint her hair at the first touch of gray. She must lunch on diet drinks to keep a willowy figure. She must be as a -go-go as her teen-age daughters.

This is easier if she has been previously, as she is told she is expected to be, a superwoman in the service of her children - hauling them to school and parties and group meetings and where not, joining organizations devoted to their welfare, keeping up a perpetual whirl of good works. The picture grows a little contradictory here, for she is expected also to break under the strain, to require an assortment of drugs to help her through the day and enable her to sleep at night. The implication is that this is a mark of normality.

Of course, she has a host of labor-saving devices to help her accomplish all these things. Electrical gadgets certainly reduce the labor of housekeeping. Instant breakfasts get the family off to work or school in a hurry, and frozen dinners feed Dad and the kids at night when Mother is late returning from the hairdresser, or bridge club, or where not.

This is the picture of Mother a-go-go that emerges from watching too much television and reading too many women's magazines. Fortunately, it is a picture that few of us will recognize.

Despite all the pressures and changes, Mother is still in most cases the quiet center of refuge and help. She may use the new gadgetry, and the cosmetics, and participate in sports and other activities in a way not many mothers did in the past (although mothers from time beyond recall have played athletic games with the younger ones). But she remains special and apart, if she is true to her motherhood; and it is one ray of hope in a puzzling world that most mothers are mother first and other things afterward.

Last week a hospital advertisement noted that "They still haven't come out with a computer that can hold a sick child's hand." Mother can, and will, through long nights of illness and trouble. And rise to the needs of the rest of her family the next morning.

DOWN WITH 'UP WITH PEOPLE'!

Amid that vast wasteland grows a bitter fruit call "corporate policy" - opinionated network's nonsequitur on view-pointless television.

Several months ago, American families watched one of the most refreshing telecasts seen since sight joined sound in the broadcast industry.

"Up With People" was a fresh, delightful, and thoroughly patriotic musical program. Mr. Pat Boone was the master of ceremonies for this 60-minute spectacular.

"Up With People" presented almost 150 young men and women of many races, backgrounds and environments. They had an enthusiasm and appreciation for the greatness of this country that was evident in their wonderful voices.

Shick Safety Razor Co. chose "Up With People" as the means for advertising its products with a conscious, admirable, courageous, patriotic theme.

Here was the sound of freedom as we seldom hear it today; here was music with lyrics like Freedom Isn't Free, You Can't Live Crooked and Think Straight; here was a dramatic first person letter from a G.I. in Viet Nam, who later died in defense of liberty for all mankind.

What a boost this was to those who love liberty and believe in the dignity of individual man! These same young people made personal appearances in major cities all across the country over a period of a year. When they sang at the United States Military Academy in West Point, New York, reporters stated that the cadets stood and applauded for several minutes at the close of the show.

The Columbia Broadcasting System owns a number of television broadcasting stations in certain cities. Some of these stations had tentatively sold time to sponsors for local showing of "Up With People," but when the contracts were about to be signed, the network owners of these local stations turned the program down. According to the Wall Street Journal, the network refused because of a policy "not to accept programs from the outside that are produced for the purpose of expressing a particular viewpoint."

News sources reported that CBS had ruled that "Up With People" expressed "an editorial point of view." At least one reliable source charged that the owners banned the show because they "did not approve the reading of an authentic letter from a G.I., letter killed battle, urging that Americans at home choose the road of moral responsibility in order to keep faith with our fighting men."

The most amazing thing about this incident is that almost nothing was spoken, written, or broadcast in defense of the right of the American people to see and hear the fervor of freedom and liberty, set to music on their television receivers. The press, in general, was strangely silent about the implications of this suppression of free speech. The boardcast and theater worlds lifted no voice to protest arbitrary "corporate policy."

Ask others who do not recognize the dangers inherent in this recent episode starring "Corporate Policy": "What would life be like if I could never hear the sounds and the truths of freedom?"

If the day comes when the "Star Spangled Banner," "The Pledge of Allegiance," Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address," the religious hymns we love and the unbridled speech of men in debate are all silenced, then we will know how wonderful was the sound of freedom.

PROTESTERS' VICTORY

There has been a great deal of debate on whether or not the anti-war demonstrations are detrimental to national security. There is little doubt that the majority of U. S. citizens are in favor of maintaining a strong defense as a means of regaining the peace that alll sensible men seek.

One question the adherents of the war resistance movement might ponder is what the enemy in Vietnam is doing to exploit the antics of the radical protesters. The answer can be found in news releases from Hanoi that invariably follow the statements of a few of the less rational doves in our government and in the well-financed peace demonstrations. The North Vietnam communist leaders boast of this as being the will of the majority of Americans. They know that this is false, but the Vietnamese people have no access to the truth and must accept the word of their rulers as gospel.

Another aspect of the radical dissenters' actions is not quite so conspicuous, but equally destructive. This is the closing down of Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) programs on campuses and the harassment of service recruiters on university campuses. School administrators find it easier to surrender to the demands of the violent than to continue to give academic credit, or in some cases even to continue the ROTC programs. Even as they close the military training programs they encourage new courses in many fields that have no reason for being except as sops to the demands of radicals and special interest groups.

The banning of armed forces recruiters on campuses has caused the Marine Corps to fall short of its needs for new officer material and to lower standards for officer recruitment. This decline in standards should be viewed with some concern. These officers will be the men in charge of leading our sons in battle. Their knowledge and ability could ean the difference between life and death, victory or defeat for our soldiers. This seems to us to argue for more forceful measures in coping with violent demonstrators.

THE AGED POOR

Every tenth American is 65 or older and, more than likely, poor. Elderly people account for 20 per cent of the nation's poverty but only 10 per cent of its population. Those planning to retire can expect "to go broke," according to a study made by the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Research. For those in retirement, it found, the standard of living declines as rapidly as life expectancy increases.

Social Security is a major -- and sometimes the only -- source of retirement income. It is currently paying $24 billion a year in benefits, exclusive of medicare. This figure includes a 13 per cent increase voted by Congress in 1967, effective Feb. 1, 1968. By July of 1968 the National Council of Senior Citizens complained (SENIOR CITIZENS NEWS) in the SOCIAL SECURITY BULLETIN (December 1968), the increases had only restored the purchasing power of beneficiaries to the point it had been when they first came on the rolls.

President Nixon on April 14 said he would ask Congress for a cost - of - living increase in Social Security benefits -- in line with pledges that both he and Hubert H. Humphrey made during the 1968 campaign. The Social Security trust fund is currently "over - financed" by 5 to 7 per cent. Presumably any increase in benefits beyond 5-7 per cent would entail further rises in payroll taxes. Under existing legislation, these taxes will go up gradually, from the present 9.6 per cent (shared by employee and employer) on the first $7,800 of yearly earnings, to 11.8 per cent in 1987.

The Senate Committee on the AGing concluded in a recent (March 27) report that the best and perhaps only way to reduce poverty among the old people is to transfer more wealth from wage earners to the retired population through Social Security. The committee will open two days of hearings on Tuesday, April 29, in a further effort to call attention to the plight of the nation's elderly in a time of heavy inflation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

We live in shaky times. The world has a million earthquakes a year, but only one out of 10 is strong enough to be felt and only one of a thousand causes substantial damage.

Every 23 seconds a burglary is committed in America. Half of the nation's burglaries take place in small businesses, and the daily loot averages $1.2 million a day.

If you can afford to travel first class, what other way is there to go? On a recent visit to perform at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor arrived with a battalion of baggage pieces, a personal staff of eight people, four Pekingese dogs, exotic spices and 20 pounds of extrasalty white pistachio nuts.

How big is one of the 20 trillion red blood cells that keep you alive? Well, put side-by-side they would reach 116,000 miles, or nearly halfway to the moon. Spread out, they'd cover fourfifths of an acre, and if you put a cluster of 40 of them together they'd be the size of the period at the end of this sentence.

Incidentally, when a novelist writes of blood racing through his excited heroine's body, he's telling the truth. The blood can course through arteries at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Quotable notables: "The art of acceptance is the art of making someone who has just done you a small favor wish that he might have done you a greater one."—Russell Lynes.

Littering is more than a nuisance—it's expensive. Every 12 minutes a U.S. home is destroyed by a fire starting in rubbish. The cleaning of debris from our streets costs us $300 million in taxes a year.

Have you given up cigarette smoking lately? It is estimated that 1.5 million Americans quit the habit each month. Unfortunately, no figures are available on the number who start again the next day, week or month.

Mission perilous: Evn omitting occasional dog bites, delivering the mail isn't a very safe job. A survey made the surprising discovery that the nation's 750,000 postal employes suffered half of all accidents to federal service personnel although they make up only a fourth of its membership.

Inflationary note: Caesars Palace, one of the luxury hotels at Las Vegas, as raised the top limit on individual dice and blackjack bets from $500 to $1,000 and the limit on baccarat best from $2,000 to $4,000. And if the dealers know you, you can go even higher.

Worth remembering: "A fat wife and a large barn never did any man any harm."

Big problem of the aged: Money isn't everything but it seems to be more of a worry the older you grow. Government statistics show that three out of 10 Americans 65 and over dwell in poverty, in contrast to only one in nine younger people who do.

Despite that depressing fact, more people are giving up the fight for the big dollar at an earlier age. In recent years more than half the people who have quit work and applied for social security benefits did so before reaching 65.

Science hasn't been able to establish that red-haired girls are more hot-tempered than others. It has found, however, that they are more susceptible to sunburn than blondes who, in turn, are afflicted by the sun's rays more than brunettes.

It was Jonathan Swift who observed, "I must complain that the cards are ill shuffled till I have a good hand."

TOP GM IDEA AWARD JUMPS TO $10,000

General Motors has announced a $4,000 increase in the maximum payment for its employee suggestion plan, according to Louis J. Seaton, GM vice president in charge of personnel staff.

The top award is for $10,000, effective immediately, in order to provide "added incentive for eligible employees to submit constructive suggestions," he said. This is the fifth time that the top award has been increased. During the 26-year history of the plan 2,249 maximum awards have been made, of which 130 were made last year.

WHY HAIR TURNS GRAY

When Shirley Polykoff was hunting a copy job, she was interviewed by an agency seeking someone to write copy for the Clairol account. Since Shirley had had no previous experience plugging hair preparations, she was turned down.

Eventually she caught on with Foote Cone and Belding and the Clairol billing moved to this agency shortly after. Shirley was asked to try her hand at persuading women that it was smart to change the color of their hair ("Every woman should be a redhead at least once in her life").

She came up with "Does she or doesn't she?" "Is it true blodes have more fun?" "The closer he gets the better you look," "Only her hairdresser knows for sure," and other copy concepts that have made both her and her account famous.

Three Way Pitch

WHEN YOU TALK ABOUT bringing people into your place of business for the best possible sales results youmust consider three vital points: newspaper advertising, displays and your own salespeople.

This is the best combination for getting merchandise off the shelves. The pages of your newspaper will tell the people in your area about the merchandise, he displays will show it to the prospects and enthusiastic salespeople to move the items is just about perfect storekeeping.

Newspaper advertising that "sells better" will bring the customers into the store. Sales-people that "sell better" will ring the cash register more often.

MARRIAGE: A process whereby dreamboats become battleships.

H.L. Hunt Says

LOVE OF FREEDOM

Love of freedom is the extreme opposite of bitterness or hate. Love of freedom means that you have the highest respect for your fellow-man and want to give him every possible chance to make good in the world, to do whatever he most wants to do, to be what he wants to be and to live the kind of life he wants to live, so long as he injures no other person.

Love of freedom is the most constructive attitude a person can have. That is why these columns have always stressed that the best name for Friends for Freedom is not "conservative" or "right-wingers" but Constructives. But if we are to earn the right to call ourselves and to be called Constructives, we must stress what we are for much more than what we are against.

Nothing is easier than being against all the forces in he world that work to destroy freedom, but to be against these forces is not enough. We must learn more about freedom and more about our country, why they are worth saving, why none of our lives would be worth anything in an enslaved land which had once been called free Republic USA.

Apathy, ignorance and blind refusal to think are far greater enemies than any others which confront us. If America can be aroused now it can be saved, for an aroused citizenry will find out and know how to save their country and their freedom.

The enemies of freedom are not apathetic. Fellow-travelers are people who "want to get in on the act." They are deceived rather than uninformed. Ingenious Freedom-enthusiasts could convert many of them. Converts are known for their zeal, and when imbued with accurate knowledge become valiant troops in the fight for freedom. HLH.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

--North Korean War Jitters--

In February 1968, Jack Anderson flew to Korea and wrote a revealing series of articles on the belligerency of North Korea. He reported, among other things, that Premier Kim appeared to be itching for trouble with the United States.

Following the shooting down of the EC-121, many newspapers featured featured similar stories regarding North Korean belligerency, on which Mr. Anderson had informed his readers more than a year ahead.

Drew Pearson says: Presidential change is quite in Bolivia; the United States and Indian masses have lost a friend; Nixon worries about ABM decision

WASHINGTON--It didn't take the headlines of Charles DeGaulle's abdication in France, but a onetime turbulent country in Latin America last week survived tragedy and political change without turbulence.

Bolivia suffered the loss of its president, Rene Barrientos Ortuno, killed in a helicopter crash, and the vice president, Luis Adolfo Siles-Salinas quitely stepped into his shoes, without incident or revolution. Not a shot was fired in a country where a good many presidents have been shot or hanged in the past.

This highlights the fact that Bolivia, a desperately poor country, high up in the Andes, has made great progress. A few years ago peasant farmers were sold as chattels with the land. But in the last fifteen years Bolivia has undergone a social revolution. The peasants now own their land. They have taken on a new pride, a new determination to improve.

It witnessed this two years ago, when Barrientos flew with Chief Justice Earl Warren to the ancient capital of Sucre, landed on a cow pasture and drove into the heart of the city. Thousands of indians swarmed through the narrow streets. The hills were steep, the altitude high, the cobblestones rough. But the Indians ran as fast as the motor caravan carrying the Chief Justice and President Barrientos.

Dressed in rough homespun woolens and wearing thick, broad-brimmed hats of Llama hair, they thronged the public square to shout greetings to their president and the American Chief Justice. It was a demonstration of loyalty to a leader who was doing his best to improve the status of the Indian masses.

--Visit to IPA--

Two years before, President Barrientos came to the United States at my invitation, to be the chief speaker at the annual convention of the international platform association. He spoke eloquently of the problems of his country and the South American continent, mingled with North Americans, was given an official luncheon by President Johnson, and himself entertained Vice President Humphrey and N.Y. Mayor John Lindsay.

He was a believer in the principal that South Americans must help themselves--borrow money perhaps, but not go on welfare to Uncle Sam. And he carried this out. He did not confiscate a single American company. He was a good salesman, and last summer flew up to San Antonio to participate in the Hemisfair and show what Bolivia had to offer the rest of the continent. Student strikes may be new to American universities, but they were not to him. When students at the University of La Paz started rioting and dared him to enter their campus, he accepted the challenge--without a bodyguard. The troubles subsided.

As Barientos was laid to rest, his young widow, Rosa Maria, wrote a letter to new President Siles asking: "For all enemies of my husband, I ask forgiveness. That's the way he would want it to be."

--Better Than The ABM--

Some pentagon strategists have concluded that America's retaliatory power can be strengthened most effectively by spending the billions now proposed for an anti-ballistic missile system upon sea-based missles.

The whole purpose of the ABM system is to protect our strategic missiles so they can be used to retaliate against an enemy. It would be cheaper to build more polaris submarines, which would be difficult to destroy because of their maneuverability. The navy is now outfitting 31 submarines with longer-range, multiple-warhead poseidon missiles. This will give the United States 496 Poseidon missiles, each with several warheads.

An enemy wouldn't dare attack the United States unless he could find these 31 subs in their undersea hiding places and destroy them. Some experts believe these subs, scattered around the oceans, are less vulnerable than would be ABM-protected land missles.

Incidentally, the multiple warheads now being mounted on both underground and undersea missiles give the United States close to 5,000 warheads capable of striking soviet targets. Each warheads packs more destructive power than all the guns fired and all the bombs dropped by both sides during world war 3.

Meanwhile, President Nixon is having serious misgivings over the ABM system. A secret senate poll by White House aides came up with less than 50 votes for the ABM system. The president confided to these aides that he may have made a mistake in adopting his own ABM system. He now believes he should merely have gone ahead with ex-president Johnson's ABM plan without a review and the attendant publicity.

--Biggest Headache--

President Nixon's biggest personal headache has been finding experts who understand urban problems. The President's urban affairs council discussed the last week behind closed White House doors.

Bob Finch, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, finally asked Presidential aid Pat Moynihan to estimate how many urban experts there are in the country. Moynihan, himself an expert, thoughtfully replied: "Six or seven."

--High-Handed Officials--

The Philippine government was delivered an unannounced protest to the American embassy in Manila over the barring of Amadeo Cruz, the Filipino Secretary of Health, from Clark Air Force Base.

He had been invited to attend a graduation ceremony at the base hospital. But apparently it hadn't been cleared with the officer in charge of the gate, who decided to show how important he is by refusing to admit the Filipino cabinet officer to a base on Philippine soil.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW BLOODY WAR:

Reuther, Teamsters Launching New Labor Movement May 26, Will Hurl It at Cores of Inner Cities

Washington, D. C.: -- 'Tis Walter Reuther's final conflict. This is the moment for which the 61-year-old Detroit redhead has waited, and brooded, and planned, and unleashed a hundred manifestos. 'Tis the moment when, in alliance with the Teamsters, with the leftest of left-wing unionists, with money from billion-dollar foundations, with the interest from his own auto union's $85 million strike fund, he will unleash organizers into the Northern black ghettos, the Puerto Rican barrior and the Southwest Mexican-American communities.

Preparing for this ultimate moment, he has avoided his own auto union Solidarity House headquarters much of the time recently. He has traveled. He has consorted with the toughest of teamsters, and with extremist unionists he once helped oust from the old CIO.

His moment will come about 10 o'clock on the morning of Monday, May 26. He then will rise on the stage of the Washington Hilton's International Ballroom Center and hit the tocsin. With hundreds of delegates from his own and all 51 Teamsters Joint Councils, and with some scattered observers from "cooperating union organizations," Walter Reuther will launch a new labor federation. He will formalize the Alliance for Labor Action.

It would be simple to mock this new force as a strange and wealthy coalition entering the lists as the champion of "the poor and the working class."

For at Mr. Reuther's side will be the suddenly gregarious Teamsters acting president, Frank Fitzsimmons, whose instant mobility is assured by the ever-ready $1.3-million twin jet, twin-piloted union deHaviland.

Or ponder Mr. Reuther's proletarian pain when, after denouncing the AFL-CIO leaders for holding their midwinter council session in Bal Harbour, Fla., Mr. Reuther's new ally, the Teamsters General Executive Board, hold their own meeting in the posh Hotel Riviera, Las Vegas. This they did this past week.

For them, too, this is a moment of reappraisal - albeit a not very agonizing one. They're realists. For them, Mr. Reuther means respectablility, despite the current trials of men accused of attempting to loot their pension funds. With their president, Jimmy Hoffa, in prison reading books on the American presidency, they have decided the time has come to change their image. So their acting president, Frank Fitzsimmons, will stand alongside Mr. Reuther at the launching of this new movement.

For two days Messrs. Fitzsimmons and Reuther and their aides will talk of tax revolts, of new campaigns, of massive organizing and of gargantuan destruction of the slums, with blueprints for endless assembly line production of low-cost housing.

There is no doubt that Mr. Reuther, with Mr. Fitzsimmons trotting behind him, will declare war on the forces of the White House and the House of Labor.

This will be a formidable challenge. This is why the eerie coalition of tough Teamsters and left-wing laborite intellectuals will whip up a whirlwind in the next few years.

They will have money. Literally tens of millions of dollars if they decide to spend and spend. They will have manpower. There are at least 2,000 skilled organizers in the ALA ranks.

They will have impact. They are going into the most sensitive of urban centers. They will make promises and raise expectations on which they will have to deliver -- or face the onslaughts of the disaapointed. A lot more than their zeal will burn if the jobs and pay and security and housing to which they're pledging themselves on May 26 just don't materialize.

Walter Reuther will attempt to link all this with the national Kennedy machine. The ALA ghetto centers will be a college of forces. Each headquarters will be part settlement house, part rent strike force, part union office, part poverty agency, part community action unit, and part political clubhouse. Political battles will be waged against the established parties.

War will be declared against the established union. Just watch. It will be union brother against union brother in the big cities and wherever there is construction in the hinterland, too.

What has been a battle of words and white papers will turn into the clash of pickets and counterpickets, men against men, and if the past record is of any use at all, there will be the clash of metal against metal.

This may be a young people's world, but they'll soon discover that the old pros are swinging cats when they're doing their thing. And they're about to do it.

Food Decisions More Complex

COLUMBIA, MO. -- Are you still peeling potatoes and cooking cereals or have you switched to frozen hashed browns and instant oatmeal? The time and energy spent in the kitchen are of interest to today's busy homemakers.

Gordon E. Bivens, professor of family economics in the School of Home Economics at the University of Missouri-Columbia, interpreted a nationwide household food consumption survey conducted by the USDA to learn how the families' use the convenience foods changed over a 10-year period.

Bivens defined convenience foods as "foods which have services added to the basic ingredients to reduce the amount of preparation required in the home." Data on 32 convenience foods - including various forms of fruits and vegetables, meats, soups, flour mixtures, cereals, milk products, and other beverages -- were collected in 1955 and 1965 surveys. Some 6,000 families were interviewed in 1955 and about 7,000 in 1965.

In terms of amount used, fresh commercial juices and frozen potatoes increased about 300 percent between 1955 and 1965. Use of dried potatoes and powdered fruit drinks increased about 200 percent. Use of prepared soups also went up -- canned soups increased over 30 percent and dry soups 100 percent.

Ready-to-eat cereals had a 30 percent increase in amount used and a 90 percent increase in money spent for them. Use of instant coffee increased 125 percent while money spent for it only went up 33 percent. Overall, spending on convenience foods increased 34 percent between 1955 and 1965.

Three out of 10 consumer food dollars are spent for convenience foods.

Farm families increased their use of these foods 61 percent during this period. However, the money spent on them was still less for farm families than for the average family in the U. S. The urban family's percentage increase was less (as they used relatively larger amounts in 1955), but they were still above the national average in the use of these foods.

Bivens says that rural and urban families in all regions and at all income levels are using convenience foods but in varying amounts. He points out that family decision making about food is becoming more complex.

Tau Chapter Observes Anniversary

Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi commemorated "Founder's Day" with a dinner April 29 at the Rustic Rock Ill. Fourteen Members and one new member, Mrs. Margaret Taylor, were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Luci Chambers served as chairman of the affairs and acted as the official greeter.

The tables were decorated with yellow candles and a floral arrangement of yellow rosebuds, which is the sorority's official flower. Place cards consisted of printed programs with each individual member's name printed on the decorated program booklet. Dinner consisted of many varieties of Chinese foods prepared by Johnnie Ham.

The central event of the evening and the culmination of the program consisted of a recorded speech of Walter Ross, Founder of Beta Sigma Phi. He saw a dream come true with the founding of Beta Sigma Phi in Abilene, Kansas in 1931, which has now grown from seven members to approximately 9100 Chapters and 200,000 members in the United States, Canada, and 15 foreign countries. Through this association, the members are able to enrich their lives culturally and socially. Although Beta Sigma Phi is not a civic organization, as such, it's members do experience the joy of helping others. At the close of the meeting, THE GIRL OF THE YEAR AWARD was presented to Jolene Walker for her outstanding service to the sorority this year, which was a silver bowl engraved with her name.

Ann Landers

Politician and Horses Are Unhappy Combination

Dear Ann Landers: I've been writing this letter in my head for seven years. Finally I decided to put it down on paper. My problem is neighbors. Before I go further I'd like to make it clear that they are horses, not people.

We live in a town in Pennsylvania -- population 30,000 and going backwards. The horses belong to a two-bit politician. They are fenced in a very small area, smell terrible, draw flies and don't do anything for the landscape.

The horses breed now and then and all this goes on two blocks from the post office, right in the heart of town. During breeding season the movie houses don't do any business. Everybody comes downtown to watch.

We've complained to the Board of Health, the Humane Society, the mayor and the police, and nobody does anything because the mayor runs everything including the City Council. What do you suggest? -- Pennsylvania Problem

Dear Penn: Organize some political opposition and turn the rascals out to pasture. With them will go the horses.

Dear Ann Lander: Three years ago I went to work as a legal secretary. The wife of one of the lawyers started to call me on the phone, "just to chat." I was flattered and pleased -- until the calls began to come every day and last for nearly an hour.

I became upset when Mrs. X started to call me at home, asking all sorts of questions about the office. Soon I caught on to what should have been obvious earlier. Mrs. X was a kitchen drinker.

One week she called me every single night and cried for a solid hour about her husband's abusive treatment. Then she got to talking about her "vicious" neighbors and their plot to make her move. When she told me they had her house bugged, I knew she was not only drunk but crazy. After several months of these interminable calls, I felt myself going to pieces. I had to quit my job and leave town.

Eight months have passed but that loony woman stills calls every week. She is always bombed and doesn't care what time it is. I've lost many a night's sleep and sick to death of her. What's the answer? --- Sacramento

Dear Sac: The answer is an unlisted telephone number. The fact that you didn't think of this yourself raises some questions about your need to suffer. Have you seen a doctor? If not, I strongly recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: The girls my fiancee works with (25 of them) are giving a bridal shower for her. The party will be at the home of her maid of honor.

Bev wants me to come in about 10:30, when they start to serve the coffee and cake. She says all I have to do is say "hello." Ann, I'd rather walk into the lion cage at Lincoln Park Zoo.

I've asked around the shop and not a single guy here has ever had to do anything like this. Please give me some advice fast. -- Squirming.

Dear S: Your girl wants to show you off, Lovey -- so be a good sport and make her happy. It'll only take a few minutes and the agony will be over before you know it.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you besure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage -- What To Expect Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cards Wonder, Drop 11th Game In St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pounding of the Kansas City Royals' bats may have given the California Angels a headache Sunday, but it was Philadelphia Phillies southpaw Grant Jackson who served up the aspirin tablets to the sluggish St. Louis Cardinals.

The fledgling Royals broke all team hitting records in their young history by whacking out 19 hits in a 15-1 trouncing of the Angels. Included in the barrage were six hits by rookie bob Oliver, matching a major league record accomplished 90 times.

Jackson scattered seven hits and permitted only one Cardinal base runner to reach third in pitching the Phillies to a 5-0 victory over St. Louis. It was the defending National League champions' 11th loss in 12 home games so far this season.

The Royals, who have today off and then venture for the first time into Eastern Division territory when they open a two-game series Tuesday night at World Champion Detroit, could not be stopped by a succession of six California pitchers.

Besides Oliver' club-record six hits—including his third home run of the season and a double— Ed Kirkpatrick got three hits and Lou Piniella, Joe Foy and pitcher Roger Nelson two each. Oliver, Piniella and Foy all drove in three runs, with Foy smacking his second homer and Piniella his third.

The Royals scored five runs in the fifth inning for a club record, then broke it with six runs in the seventh. Nelson evened his record at 2-2 with a sparkling four-hit performance, yielding two hits only in the fifth inning.

The victory gave the Royals the series, three games to one, and put them two games above m500 for the trip East, which will take them to Detroit and Baltimore.

Rich Allen, who returned to the Phillies' lineup after being AWOL for two days and fined $1,000, drove in two runs against the Cardinals. He doubled home a run in the third and hit a sacrifice fly for another in the sixth.

The sputtering Cardinals remain at home to meet San Francisco in a two-game series opening Tuesday night.

SPORTS CORNER

What's happened to the St. Louis Cardinals?

That's a most familiar question now a days and its getting a lot of answers.

Some claim its the players wanting a managerial change, others say they were due and still others claim it was the trading during the off season that upset the rank.

It is of this writers opinion that the trading off of Orlando Cepeda is the key to the Cardinal worries.

Cepeda led the Cards into last years world series, not with his bat or glove, but with his enthusiasm and leadership. The St. Louis based club is in deep need of both right now.

Cha-Cha's leadership was a big plus in the past two season's rise to the World Series... The Cardinals will have to find another leader soon or will find themselves where they are at now... at the bottom.

Ever feel like throwing the tackle box at fish when they're not bittng? Well, it just might work.

Not the whole tackle box, of course, but fishing two or more lures at the same time is often better than using just one.

Sound like a crazy idea? Not really. It's just another of the many techniques successful anglers have been using a long time.

One double- lure method popular with lake fishermen is to use a floating plug with a chaser to catch white bass and other schooling, surface - feeding fish. The large topwater plug -- especially if it's one with spinners -- stirs up the water as would a school of minnows. The second lure, chasing along two or three feet behind, is usually a bright colored fly or small wobbler. Identified as a straggler by the prey fish, it's usually the one they will take.

A variation of this technique has been used successfully for crappie by replacing the chasing fly with a hair jib, letting it dangle several feet below and behind the plug.

Trout are sometimes taken in lakes by rigging a multiple- fly leader (several flies tied 10 to 12 inches apart), casting it lightly upon the water. It's tricky, but if done skillfully the effect is that of several insects alighting at one time. This will often tempt otherwise non-feeding fish into striking. River fishermen floating a stream find this technique effective when used with a streamer and several small wet flies tied ahead.

So, dig into that tackle box and try throwing something extra next time fishing is slow. You may find that fish agree with the adage "The more the merrier."

SHS Sports Schedule Nears End; District Track Meet Here Friday

By TERRY NOWELL
STANDARD SPORTS WRITER

This week of sporting action at SHS will see two Bulldog squads complete their local competition. Sikeston baseballers will finish their schedule with Cape Notre Dame on Wednesday and the tracksters will participate in the District meet on Sikeston's grounds Friday.

A short and maybe somewhat diasppointing season for the Bulldog nine will come to an end Wednesday. Baseballers have not had what would really be classified as a bad season this year, but a much better one had been expected by many.

Sikeston thinclads have several high prospects for their final and very important local contest in the District meet.

Tracksters have steadily improved throughout the year and several boys have really excelled in their respective events.

Among the teams participating in the contest will be Charleston, Kennett, Poplar Bluff, Cape, Perryville, Jackson, and Sikeston.

Bulldog golfers will also get into action this week as they travel to Poplar Bluff on Monday and Tuesday for their District meet.

Competition will include two nine-hole rounds with one round to be played each day.

A total of 12 teams are expected for the meet. Among them are Sikeston, Poplar Bluff, Kennett Cape, Flat River, and Dexter.

Bulldog golfers have won the District meet for the past two years, but expect to receive a big threat for the title from Cape. The Cape Central squad thus far is undefeated in match play this season.

Some of the greatest men in history never owned a pair of shoes.

There's a lot to be said for boots. And fashion isn't the only reason for their popularity. Just slip them on and kick them off. Simplicity itself.

In fact, they say that a good many colorful characters of the Old West loved their boots so much that they kicked the bucket with them on.

Teachout is Runner-up in St. Louis Spelling Bee

ST. LOUIS - Sally Shoemaker, a 13-year-old 8th grader at St. Gabriel the Archangel School, correctly spelled the words perspicuous and cacophony Sunday afternoon to win the championship in the 19th annual KTVI - Globe-Democrat National Spelling Bee.

Sally, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shoemaker, 6264 Kinsey pl., outlasted students from more than 400 schools in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois in rounds of the spelling bee during the last three weeks.

She topped eight finalists Sunday, including runner-up Terry Touchout, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Teachout of Sikeston, Mo., who represented Sikeston Middle School.

Both Sally and Terry outlasted their competition by about 10 minutes. Each missed several words - including baccivorous, insessorial and cozenage - but Sally was declared the winner when she spelled perspicuous after Terry missed it and then spelled a second word correctly.

As winner, Sally will receive a portable tv, a 24-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica and the Britannica Book of the Year, an engraved pen and pencil, the two-volume Lincoln Library, a 1969 World Almanac, and an all-expense-paid trip for two to Washington, D. C., to compete in the national spelling bee.

Sally, a straight A student, said she practiced spelling about an hour each day to get ready for the contest. It paid off Sunday when it was necessary for her to spell such words as glaucoma, triumvirate, seismograph, quiescent and dissymmetry. She said her teacher, Sister Bertrille, SSND, also helped prepare her for the competition.

Happy New Year!

It's a great day - and the beginning of many happy new years - when you find out you have more ability than you though you had.
Those happy new years start when you break through your own mental and emotional reservations about yourself. That's when you start to use all your natural abilities (instead of operating at 10% of capacity as most people do). The confidence this gives you can lead to better jobs and higher income, too.
For over a million men and women, the happy new years have started with the Dale Carnegie Course. It teaches you new ways to think about yourself.

Marshall Urges Punishment for Unruly Militants

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The first Negro member of the U.S. Supreme Court says black militants who defy the law should be made to face the consequences.

"Anarchy is anarchy," Justice Thurgood Marshall said Sunday, "and it makes no difference who practices it, it is bad; it is punishable and it should be punished."

"You can't use color for an excuse for not doing what you should be doing," he declared.

"Race is not an excuse for not keeping up your house properly, nor is race an excuse for not keeping your children in school, even though they may still be segregated."

Marshall said he realized that "so far as race problems and minority rights go, the problems are not yet solved and I have no idea when they will be, but there has been some progress."

"The seeds are here," he added. "But nothing will be settled with guns, firebombs or rocks. The country can't survive if the perpetrators go unpunished. It's that simple."

Urging Negroes to reject black militant leadership, Marshall said:

"We should stand up and say, 'Look, man, you do what you want to do and I'll do what I have to do. But don't tell me I have to do what you want me to do just because you said it.'"

The associate justice called for leadership through education, and said students demanding black studies and African culture should not discard other studies and cultures.

Robert A. Johnson

Johnson to Head Cape College Student Senate

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Robert A. Johnson, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Matthews, Cape Girardeau, was elected president of the Student Senate at Southeast Missouri State College, a student body of 6,300 students.

He received 52 per cent of the total vote in a four-man race. Young Johnson is a junior, a pre-law student, a three-time delegate to the student senate, and wing president to Myers and Towers dormitories.

He is a member of the pre-law club, the college Young Democrats. He is currently pledging Pi Kapa Alpha national social fraternity.

Heddon Tackle Box Man Draws Fishing Interest

Southeast Missouri fishing enthusiasts, novice and expert alike had a field day Friday at Wal-Mart as Risto Heikkinen famed tackle representative of the James Heddon Manufacturing Co. of Rogers, Ark., gave casting instruction, answered sportsmen's questions on various fishing problems and captivated young and old alike with his good humor, knowledge of his products, and his desire to be of service.

Kelly Jackson manager of Wal-Mart sporting goods division, said scores of interested persons made contacts with the Heddon representative during his 10-hour stay at the store and all disclosed their pleasure for the opportunity to converse, and compete briefly against a skilled piscatorial artist.

Visitors gained a first hand look at several new and proven baits, being manufactured and distributed by Heddon. Children were allowed to handle, and shoot several of Heddon's Dairy air rifles and CO2 guns, also made at Rogers.

Several feminine angels showed up to ask questions regarding how to learn to cast. Some of the more experienced ones inquired how best to fish certain baits; how to match lines with reels and rods; how to test a line on a spin rod. Fish pictures of bass, crappie, various members of the trout family, along with pickerel and musky, were given away.

Included in the new baits Daisy-Heddon is offering are a Deeper Dive Tiger, a craw-shrimp and a new version of the dependable Sonic. Old standbys, like the Lucky 13, so named when Mr. Heddon gained a big catch on Friday 13, years ago are available in three different weights. The Tiger Cub and a really BIG Tiger, the vet meadow mouse, the slim Cobra, and the River Runt catagory, are all joining the venerable Chugger Spook and the Crazy Crawler to attack attention. Some veteran angelers were still interested in the Zarragossa, Basser, Vamp and the old Torpedo lure -- all results of the elder Mr. Heddon's fine whittling ability, years ago.

The youngsters also were interested right on down to the three year olds. One class of youngsters begged their teacher so hard to "let us see the fish" that she responded. Then there was little three-year-old Jimmy Gipson, who, after watching his mother, Mrs. Linda Gipson, receive some casting instructions from Keikkinen, came up begging to "hold it too."

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Shapely Vera bought a one-piece bathing suit that held fast going around the curves. And, while it had no hooks, there were plenty of eyes on it when Vera emerged from the pool at a fancy country club.

It seemed that the water, as someone observed loud enough for Vera to hear, had made the bathing suit transparent. Looking down at her stomach, Vera quickly confirmed the fact that her tummy-tum-tummy was plainly visible. She made a wild dash for the locker room and sued the manufacturer of the suit for her humiliation.

"He was careless in making a suit that you could see through when wet," complained Vera in court. "I'm a virtuous woman and, in that bathing suit, you could see it."

"First of all," answered the manufacturer, "I didn't know it could happen. And second, what's so terrible if you could see her stomach? It wasn't so horrible to look at. And, what else you could see, she's not saying. So what's the big deal?"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the manufacturer pay for Vera's embarrassment?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that even though the bathing suit became transparent, there was no evidence that personal parts of her body were viewable. The fact that certain areas could be seen, concluded the judge, wasn't so serious.

Case for Crime Chromosome Challenged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Perhaps 200,000 American males have the "XYY" genetic makeup that is being linked with impulses to commit violent crimes, a psychiatrist said today.

But "there is growing evidence that many XYY individuals are stable, law-abiding citizens," Dr. Gerald R. Clark of Elwyn, Pa., declared. "It appears that the XYY male in general has been falsely stigmatized."

Normally each body cell has 46 chromosomes, the carriers of genes that determine inherited characteristics. They receive an X chromosome from the mother, and a Y from the father. Occasionally, some accident adds an extra Y or X chromosome.

For several years there has been speculation that men with the XYY chromosome were genetically inclined toward aggressive criminal behavior. In courts, defense attorneys have argued that such men were not responsible for their crimes.

Reporting new studies to the American Psychiatric Association in convention here, Dr. Clark said the frequency with which XYY men are involved in crime and other antisocial behavior "may not be appreciably different from the average citizen."

Dr. Clark is president of the Elwyn Institute, which began a study of the XYY chromosome in 1966. He is also associate professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

universities and colleges for the coming year. Rep. Thomas D. Graham D-Jefferson City, threw the House into an uproar last Tuesday by trying to boost the committee - cut appropriations for the schools back to the levels recommenced by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The House quit for dinner and when members cme back to work that night the appropriations chairman, Rep. E. J. (Lucky) Cantrell, D-Overland, attempted to continue the debate on the money bills. He was blocked out by the majority floor leader, Rep. Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis.

The Senate could get busy on some of the revenue producing bills, including the House - passed measure to increase the corporate and individual income tax rates. Latest estimates put the increased revenue from individual income tax rate boosts at $34 million and from corporate incomes $36 million.

Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, the President Pro Tem of the Senate, has a bill of his own to boost corporate income taxes only. After the House- passed bill on both corporate and individual income taxes came out of Senate committee, 7-3, last Wednesday, Blackwell served notice he would oppose any increase in individual tax rates.

The Justice Department, meanwhile, said it "is aware of the contents of the article in Life magazine and currently has the matter under consideration."

Fortas' statement, issued two hours after he had driven to the court on an otherwise quiet Sunday, began: "I have not accepted any fee or emolument from Mr. Wolfson or the Wolfson Family Foundation or any related person or group."

Fortas went on to say he met Wolfson in 1965, before going on the Court, after a Wolfson company had retained his old law firm.

The Justice said the foundation offered the fee "in the hope that I would find time and could undertake, consistently with my court obligations, research functions, studies and writings connected with the work of the foundation."

Food Plan Far Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $8.8 million federal program aimed at improving diets for nearly a quarter-million impoverished mothers and children is far behind schedule and 50 per cent below the target.

The program's intent is to supply a $7.00 package of nutrients iron-enriched cereal, fruit juice, canned meat each month to malnourished families.

But, after six months, the program has reached less than 100,000 of the target figure of 225,000 mothers and children.

However, the Nixon administration will continue to press the project which was initiated by the Johnson administration, along with other federal food programs, say Agriculture Department officials. The administration has asked for $15 million increase in the department's food program budget overall.

The problem centers on poor federal-local cooperation and little local awareness of what all department programs can and should do, spokesmen say. Without cooperation, little can be done, they add.

The Department hopes to cure some of the trouble with an educational campaign among labor unions, churches, business groups and universities.

Freeman said it is expected the department will make its original target for the special food packages sometime later this year. In 1970 the program is intended to reach a million mothers, infants and children up to the age of six years. The cost estimate for this level is $140 million a year.

"The enthusiasm is there," Freeman says. But it's only in places like the district (Washington, D.C.) which have some uncommitted resources available that makes it possible to get moving."

The program was limping along in Washington until mid-April when a Senate committee under Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., took to the city to probe hunger conditions.

Only 20,465 persons were receiving the special packages but the project was immediately expanded to include 45,000 after the investigation.

Wilson Defies Rebel Factions

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the rebels in his Labor party Sunday they won't divert his government from its task of trying to put the British economy in the black.

Addressing opponents of his antistrike legislation who launched a "Wilson must go" campaign last week, the British leader said: "I know what is going on. I am going on. Your government is going on.

"I do not intend to allow this government to be diverted from its task by petty divisions on policies, procedures and personalities."

Wilson warned rebellious factions in the party: "If this Labor movement insists on weakening itself by divisive action, the only beneficiaries will be the Tories, and I mean the possibility of a Tory government elected as a result of our divisions."

Unpopular austerity measures and proposed legislation to curb wildcat strikes are "priorities of government against an economic background, against a world background, which has been changing rapidly for the past 20 years," Wilson said.

"The Tories never faced up to that change. That is why we have inherited the continuing problem of paying our way in the world," he declared.

The government's restrictions on wages and spending have brought the Labor government's popularity to its lowest ebb in five years. And its attempt to curb crippling wildcat strikes has enraged trade unionists and leftwingers who get up in arms at any interference with union rights.

Labor stalwarts appear to be in for a major disaster this week in the election of local councilmen in 320 boroughs and more than 400 urban districts of England and Wales, and in 196 boroughs in Scotland. Forecasts indicate the party stands to lose control of every British city of more than 100,000 population, its worst showing in 38 years.

The Labor party strength has declined steadily since 1964, losing 2,750 seats on local councils.

World Population Growth Nears 1.3 Million a Week

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN

It is growing by about 2.2 persons per second, 132 per minute, 190,000 per day and over 1.3 million a week.

These statistics, from the World Population Data Sheet, which contains a nation-by-nation survey of current population figures for 137 countries and territories compiled mainly from United Nations sources, means that by July 1 this year, the world's population would reach 3.551 billion persons.

That amount -- enough to fill 35,000 football stadiums, each accommodating 100,000 fans -- would be 72 million more than a year earlier. Forty years ago, the world's population was accelerating by only about 200 million each year.

The rate of world population, according to the Population Reference Bureau which released the Data Sheet, has been moving up for the 2,000 years. The first billion mark was reached about 1800; the two billion milestone was passed about 1930. It was expected to pass the four billion mark by 1975.

A major problem in determining world population, however is Communist China, which contains more than a fifth of the global population. United Nations stratistics give China a population of 740 million, but other estimates exceed the U.N. figure by 50 million and more. Other contradictory figures indicate that even the Chinese do not know how many of them there are.

The world's fastest growing country? Costa Rica, with a birth rate of 45 and a death rate of seven, per 1,000 population per year. Its ration of six births to one death contrasts with a 2-to-1 ratio for the world as a whole.

On a worldwide basis, 3.9 babies are born every second in 1969, while just under 1.7 people die, for a gain of 2.2 persons.

More babies are born daily in the so-called "have-not" nations in Asia, Latin America and Africa than in the "have" nations, comprising Europe, the Soviet Union, North America, Australia, New Zealand and Japan. Of each day's world total of 331,000 babies born, only 51,000 are born in the industrailized areas and more than five times as many in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Three African countries report the highest birth rates -- the Ivory Coast with 56 and Togo and Guinea each with 55. Hungary has the lowest birth rate with only 14.6.

Interestingly, Romania had a birth rate of 14.3 in 1966, but after abortions were declared illegal in 1967, the birth rate hit 27.1 -- the highest in Europe, with the exception of Albania.

Sweden has the lowest rate of infant morality in the world, followed by the Nehterlands, Iceland and Finland. The United States ranks 16th, with the Soviet Union tied for 23rd with Hong Kong and Singapore in this category of babies born who died before their first birthday. Generally, the lower the infant mortality rate, the longer the life expectancy.

Five Breakins In Charleston

CHARLESTON -- Thieves who broke into Nicholena's Restaurant Sunday night, in one of five Charleston burglaries, came out with the night's biggest haul - a 10-pound roast - and the enjoyment of several thick roast beef sandwiches -- prepared while in the cafe.

They also took along with them a 10-pound roast. Lewis Mor, who leases the cafe, said that a wall clock was stopped at 4.50 a.m., probably the time the men were in the cafe. Candy in a mint jar was thrown on the floor.

In other breakins the H. & H. Auto Part Supply House, owned by J. W. Huckstep, lost some flashlights and wire grip pliers to persons who entered through the rear door. The thieves attempted to saw open, then peel the sides of the company safe, but were unsuccessful in securing any money.

Next door to the H. & H. Supply, The Fashion Beauty Shop was ransacked and littered with paper, but nothing was found to be missing.

An attempted breakin was flaunted due to the presence of a huge, old-fashioned window fan that blocked entry, after the thieves had suceeded in getting in a outside window.

150 Volunteers to Work In Palsy Drive Thursday

"Every 53 minutes a Cerebral Palsy child is born and Cerebral Palsy just doesn't happen to an infant - it also happens to a whole family," Miss Pauline Poeppelmeyer said today in announcing the 1969 Sikeston house-to-house appeal for funds that will be made Thursday from 6 p.m. to 6:53 p.m.

The final phase of the health agency's current drive to raise $1,500 is being carried to every residential and business section in Sikeston by more than 150 volunteers.

Heading up the drive in Sikeston are: Miss Pauline Poeppelmeyer, Sikeston Campaign Chairman; Mrs. W. L. Clayton, Director of the "Sing Out" Group who will make the 53 Minute March from house - to - house Thursday; Mrs. William C. Shell, Beta Sigma Phi Chairman for the Drive, who will contact all businesses in town this week, and Mr. Clyde Wilson, who, with other members of the Elks Club, will maintain a road block in Sikeston Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Miss Poeppelmeyer said cerebral palsy is a complex medical, physical, psychological and economic and emotional problem which every member of the family must face. For the child with cerebral palsy, she continued, the most important part of his environment is his family -- parents, brothers, and sisters.

United Cerebral Palsy helps such families by directing them to qualified medical assistance, by making available apropriate therapies, by offering opportunities for training and education.

News Briefs

Attempted Rape Reported

Two Scott County 16-year-old Negro youths are in the county jail at Benton accused of attempting to rape a Haywood City woman about 2 p.m. Sunday.

Sheriff John Dennis said the woman, 31, unidentified, was sleeping in her home when the boys raised a window and entered the house. The woman's son came shortly thereafter and knocked on the front door. The woman hollered and told him to kick the door in. At that point the boys left the premises through the window.

The youths were arrested at 9 a.m. Sunday in Haywood City by deputy Jack Stewart.

Her body was taken to Greer-Croy Funeral Home in Poplar Bluff.

Cape Police Seek Four Suspects in Shooting

Cape Girardeau police today were seeking to establish the identity of four men who allegedly shot and robbed Jerry Knobel, 31, of St. Louis, after stopping him at the foot of the Cape Bridge at 3:22 a.m. Sunday morning.

Cape Records show that Knobel, presently employed as a construction supervisor on the building of a new osteopathic hospital at Chaffee, pulled up in front of a Cape cab stand and told a driver that he had been shot twice and robbed of a wallet containing $60 and some valuable papers.

The records show that a cab company employee rushed Knobel to the Southeast Missouri Hospital at Cape, where he was reported in "good condition" early Monday morning.

One of the investigating officers told a Daily Standard reporter today that he "planned to visit with Knobel this afternoon, since the doctors say he is doing well enough to be subjected to some questioning."

The investigating officer, after checking the Cape police report, said that Knobel suffered a great deal of bleeding from the two wounds, made by .22 calibre bullets, apparently delivered at close range. He said that one of the bullets entered Knobel's chest, the other went into his stomach.

U.S. Command Holds Up Bombing Reports

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command is withholding reports of damage the B52 bombers are inflicting in their campaign along the Cambodian border, the heaviest of the Vietnam war.

About 300 of the big bombers have rained $18 million worth of bombs along the frontier in the past two weeks, but there has been no official announcement of any results.

"We have no bomb damage assessment to report," the U.S. briefing officer says each day.

Informants said U.S. forces are constantly assessing the B52 strikes, ut information officers for the U.S. Command have been instructed not to discuss damage assessment. The official line is that disclosure of such information would compromise American methods of gathering intelligence.

Some informants are skeptical, however. They said one reason for the official silence is that the U.S. Command fears an unfavorable public reaction to the skimpy results confirmable in relation to the money spent.

"We found some enemy bodies," said one officer, "at least four or five here and there."

But Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, nd the Strategic Air Command consider the B52s a vital weapon in the war. Officers say the huge bombers harass enemy troops, deny them sanctuaries, keep them on the run nd prevent them from getting organized for an offensive.

"Harassment of troops is our biggest accomplishment," said one B52 officer. "We don't let them get organized."

Three North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions are the primary targets in the current campaign. The raids have struck at base campus in War Zone C, including bunker complexes, trenches and stockpiles of munitions and other supplies.

"We're not able to show you enemy bodies killed by the B52s," said one infantry officer. "But they've denied refuge to enemy troops in areas where you'd have to go in with ground troops and suffer men killed and wounded."

Four more B52 raids in War Zone C were reported today. Twenty-five Stratofortresses dumped 750 tons of bombs on enemy bunker complexes and storage areas, the U.S. Command reported.

A ground clash also was reported in War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Air Calvary Division ran into 150 North Vietnamese who opened fire from bunkers. American fighter - bombers put the enemy to flight after an hour's fight. The bodies of three North Vietnamese were left behind. Four Americans were killed and seven were wounded.

The U.S. Command also announced that five helicopters and one Air National Guard F100 fighter - bomber were lost over the weekend, killing eleven Americans and wounding six.

The reported helicopter losses for the Vietnam war now total 2,595 while the fixed - wing aircraft losses reported are 2,682.

House to Hold Night Session

JEFFERSON ITY (AP) — The Missouri House has scheduled a third night session today in an effort to clear away some of the great mass of legislation on its calendar.

Night sessions were held last Tuesday and Wednesday after long days of debate. The Tuesday night session was productive because 30 bills were passed and sent to the Senate.

The Wednesday night session appeared headed for a blowup so it was adjourned after only 10 bills were passed.

The House still has about 300 bills on its calendar and only 15 or 20 of them are Senate bills. The rest are House measures with the long end of their legislative obstacle course still ahead. The Senate has about half as many bills ready for debate and only 15 are House bills. Both Houses are stuck with heavy workloads in the weeks ahead. The June 30 legislative deadline now is eight weeks off.

The House may try once more to give first round approval to the last of the major appropriation bills. At issue now is the bill to finance the

Charleston City Judge Fines Five

CHARLESTON - Robert Wiggin, a parole violator of East Prairie, was handed the stiffest fine of any of the five persons who appeared before City Judge July Shelby this morning.

Judge Shelby sentenced Wiggin to serve 10 days for the violation, and then added total fines of $132 on four counts, including driving while intoxicated, speeding, running a red light and careless driving.

Rodney Chambers of Charleston was fined $17 on a charge of speeding and passing at an intersection; Ethel Simmons, Charleston, paid $16 for failure to yield the right of way; Melvin Moss of Cairo paid a $15 fine for disorderly conduct and Marshall George, also of Charleston, was fined $20 for being drunk and disorderly.

Fortas Denies Magazine Article Fee Implications

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Abe Fortas received a $20,000 fee from the family of industrialist Louis E. Wolfson three months after he was seated on the Supreme Court and did not return the money until 11 months later, according to Life magazine.

Fortas confirmed Sunday that he was offered and considered a fee but flatly denied that he accepted or that he stepped in to help Wolfson, a former client who went to jail last month on a federal securities law conviction.

The justice said he returned the fee, "tendered" in 1966, "with my thanks." His statement, issued at the court after he had read an advance copy of the Life article, did not say how large the fee was or when he returned it.

Life's account was that the Wolfson Family Foundation, a tax-free charitable organization set up by Wolfson and his brothers, paid Fortas $20,000 in January 1966, three months after he was sworn in as an associate justice.

The article, by William Lambert, said Fortas returned the money in December 1966, three months after the financial tycoon and his longtime business associate, Elkin Gerbert, had been indicted on charges of selling a large block of unregistered stock in a company Wolfson and Gerbert controlled.

Life said "whatever services he may or may not have rendered to the foundation, Justice Fortas' name was being

Court Agrees to Review Voter Residency Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court agreed today to review state residency requirements for voting for president.

The action, setting a hearing for next term, follows the court's holding that states cannot set residency requirements for welfare assistance.

The voting case, which covers somewhat the same ground, was brought to the court by a Colorado lawyer and his wife who said some five million people were kept from voting in the United States last year because of residence requirements.

The lawyer, Richard Hall of Colorado Springs, said these laws can be decisive in close presidential elections such as the race last year, and therefore the Supreme Court should pass judgment.

In other actions today, the court:

-Threw out an Illinois law requiring independent candidate for statewide political office to be nominated by voters in at least 50 of the state's 102 counties.

-Refused a hearing to a Miami man who claimed the telephone company had no right to listen in and see if he was cheating on long-distance calls. He has been convicted of defrauding the company.

Hall and his wife, Christine, appealed following a ruling by a three - judge federal court in Denver last December that Colorado's residence requirements are reasonable.

The Halls had been unable to vote in November because they had moved into the state recently from Lafayette, Calif. They also were not allowed to vote in California.

To vote in Colorado one has to be a resident of the state at least six months, of the city or county at least 90 days and of the voting precinct at least 15 days.

The Halls told the court in their appeal that "any restrictions placed upon the right to vote should be closely scrutinized and carefully confined." They recalled that "This court has repeatedly held that the right to vote is a fundamental right in a free and democratic society."

East Prairie Man Faces Three Court Charges

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Alfred Thomas Hendrix of East Prairie, charged with three counts of violation of the Interstate Commerce Act, will face a court jury in Cape Girardeau Federal Court tomorrow. He is represented by Weber Gilmore, of Gilmore and Gilmore, Sikeston attorneys.

The three charges against Hendrix include failing to keep a record of a physical examination, made by a licensed physician; failure to keep a daily driver's log and failing to maintain a systematic inspection and maintanance record for a motor vehicle under his control while engaged in interstate transportation.

The opening ceremonies of the court will include the granting of citizenship to some five area residents. Included is Marga Leach of Sikeston, a native of Riga, Latvia.

Police Arrest Husband, Wife For Tampering Investigation

A Kirkwood man and his wife are in custody at Sikeston City Jail for investigation of tampering with at least five pay telephone booths in the city Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Police Chief Arthur Bruce said this morning that James H. Hampton, 31, and Mary Francis Hampton, 30, were arrested early Sunday morning after they had allegedly broken into the phone coin box at East Side Shell Service Station on East Malone Ave. They were stopped about 1:15 a.m. by Officer Bobbie Norman.

Police were awaiting a search warrant this morning before going through the couple's car. Bruce said police at Morehouse and Malden had reported to his department that several phone booths in those towns also had been broken into during the weekend. He said police at Kirkwood also suspect the couple of breaking into numerous phone booths in that city.

"They were just making the rounds, apparently," Chief Bruce said.

Some tools and a homemade key were found on the man that could be used to break into coin boxes. Bruce suspects that some change will be found in the car when searched.

The coin box of the pay telephone outside Center Street Sinclair Service Station was found later Sunday morning by police after it had been pulled about half-way out of the telephone. There was $96.50 in the box. Leonard's Shell Service on West Malone; one near the International Shoe Factory and one located on Brannum Street.

Bruce said the suspects will be turned over to Scott County authorities for prosecution.

Other persons reported arrested during the weekend were Henry Dunning, School Street, who is charged with public intoxication, resisting arrest and destroying private property; Jerry Robertson, 521 South Kingshighway, disorderly conduct, assault and public intoxication; James Wren Jr., 237 Washington, public intoxication, and Ancell C. Gross, Sikeston, public intoxication.

Other arrests reported were Thurman Watson, 313 Sunset, absent without leave from the Army; Bobby R. Robison, Berkley, careless and imprudent driving and disorderly conduct; Charles Evans, 327 Luther, public intoxication, and Eddie W. Childers, 211 Edward, failure to wear protective headgear.

Optimist Elect Schade To Zone Lt. Gov. Post

Leo L. Schade, 319 W. North street, was elected lieutenant-governor, Zone M, Missouri District Optimist International, at the annual convention held in Jefferson City last weekend.

Schade, who has over 26 years in Optimist International, was charter president of the Jackson club, and is a charter member of the Sikeston club, organized in January, 1966. He holds a perfect weekly attendance record in each club. The office becomes effective Oct. 1, a change in the new fiscal year.

Attending the district convention held at the Ramada Inn, were Mr. and Mrs. Schade, and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. "Pete" Burns, delegates from Sikeston.

The International convention will be held in Bal Harbour, Fla. about 2,500 clubs, with a membership of over 250,000 will be represented on June 22-26.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

THE REAL PICTURE OF MOTHER TODAY

The traditional image of Mother is blurred and distorted by the many-faceted glare of modern life, until it seems as schizophrenic as a Picasso print. Mother herself must be confused at times, by all she reads and sees and hears about what is expected of her.

She must be a glamour girl, of course, if she accepts the ideas thrust at her. She must tint her hair at the first touch of gray. She must lunch on diet drinks to keep a willowy figure. She must be as a -go-go as her teen-age daughters.

This is easier if she has been previously, as she is told she is expected to be, a superwoman in the service of her children - hauling them to school and parties and group meetings and where not, joining organizations devoted to their welfare, keeping up a perpetual whirl of good works. The picture grows a little contradictory here, for she is expected also to break under the strain, to require an assortment of drugs to help her through the day and enable her to sleep at night. The implication is that this is a mark of normality.

Of course, she has a host of labor-saving devices to help her accomplish all these things. Electrical gadgets certainly reduce the labor of housekeeping. Instant breakfasts get the family off to work or school in a hurry, and frozen dinners feed Dad and the kids at night when Mother is late returning from the hairdresser, or bridge club, or where not.

This is the picture of Mother a-go-go that emerges from watching too much television and reading too many women's magazines. Fortunately, it is a picture that few of us will recognize.

Despite all the pressures and changes, Mother is still in most cases the quiet center of refuge and help. She may use the new gadgetry, and the cosmetics, and participate in sports and other activities in a way not many mothers did in the past (although mothers from time beyond recall have played athletic games with the younger ones). But she remains special and apart, if she is true to her motherhood; and it is one ray of hope in a puzzling world that most mothers are mother first and other things afterward.

Last week a hospital advertisement noted that "They still haven't come out with a computer that can hold a sick child's hand." Mother can, and will, through long nights of illness and trouble. And rise to the needs of the rest of her family the next morning.

DOWN WITH 'UP WITH PEOPLE'!

Amid that vast wasteland grows a bitter fruit call "corporate policy" - opinionated network's nonsequitur on view-pointless television.

Several months ago, American families watched one of the most refreshing telecasts seen since sight joined sound in the broadcast industry.

"Up With People" was a fresh, delightful, and thoroughly patriotic musical program. Mr. Pat Boone was the master of ceremonies for this 60-minute spectacular.

"Up With People" presented almost 150 young men and women of many races, backgrounds and environments. They had an enthusiasm and appreciation for the greatness of this country that was evident in their wonderful voices.

Shick Safety Razor Co. chose "Up With People" as the means for advertising its products with a conscious, admirable, courageous, patriotic theme.

Here was the sound of freedom as we seldom hear it today; here was music with lyrics like Freedom Isn't Free, You Can't Live Crooked and Think Straight; here was a dramatic first person letter from a G.I. in Viet Nam, who later died in defense of liberty for all mankind.

What a boost this was to those who love liberty and believe in the dignity of individual man! These same young people made personal appearances in major cities all across the country over a period of a year. When they sang at the United States Military Academy in West Point, New York, reporters stated that the cadets stood and applauded for several minutes at the close of the show.

The Columbia Broadcasting System owns a number of television broadcasting stations in certain cities. Some of these stations had tentatively sold time to sponsors for local showing of "Up With People," but when the contracts were about to be signed, the network owners of these local stations turned the program down. According to the Wall Street Journal, the network refused because of a policy "not to accept programs from the outside that are produced for the purpose of expressing a particular viewpoint."

News sources reported that CBS had ruled that "Up With People" expressed "an editorial point of view." At least one reliable source charged that the owners banned the show because they "did not approve the reading of an authentic letter from a G.I., letter killed battle, urging that Americans at home choose the road of moral responsibility in order to keep faith with our fighting men."

The most amazing thing about this incident is that almost nothing was spoken, written, or broadcast in defense of the right of the American people to see and hear the fervor of freedom and liberty, set to music on their television receivers. The press, in general, was strangely silent about the implications of this suppression of free speech. The boardcast and theater worlds lifted no voice to protest arbitrary "corporate policy."

Ask others who do not recognize the dangers inherent in this recent episode starring "Corporate Policy": "What would life be like if I could never hear the sounds and the truths of freedom?"

If the day comes when the "Star Spangled Banner," "The Pledge of Allegiance," Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address," the religious hymns we love and the unbridled speech of men in debate are all silenced, then we will know how wonderful was the sound of freedom.

PROTESTERS' VICTORY

There has been a great deal of debate on whether or not the anti-war demonstrations are detrimental to national security. There is little doubt that the majority of U. S. citizens are in favor of maintaining a strong defense as a means of regaining the peace that alll sensible men seek.

One question the adherents of the war resistance movement might ponder is what the enemy in Vietnam is doing to exploit the antics of the radical protesters. The answer can be found in news releases from Hanoi that invariably follow the statements of a few of the less rational doves in our government and in the well-financed peace demonstrations. The North Vietnam communist leaders boast of this as being the will of the majority of Americans. They know that this is false, but the Vietnamese people have no access to the truth and must accept the word of their rulers as gospel.

Another aspect of the radical dissenters' actions is not quite so conspicuous, but equally destructive. This is the closing down of Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) programs on campuses and the harassment of service recruiters on university campuses. School administrators find it easier to surrender to the demands of the violent than to continue to give academic credit, or in some cases even to continue the ROTC programs. Even as they close the military training programs they encourage new courses in many fields that have no reason for being except as sops to the demands of radicals and special interest groups.

The banning of armed forces recruiters on campuses has caused the Marine Corps to fall short of its needs for new officer material and to lower standards for officer recruitment. This decline in standards should be viewed with some concern. These officers will be the men in charge of leading our sons in battle. Their knowledge and ability could ean the difference between life and death, victory or defeat for our soldiers. This seems to us to argue for more forceful measures in coping with violent demonstrators.

THE AGED POOR

Every tenth American is 65 or older and, more than likely, poor. Elderly people account for 20 per cent of the nation's poverty but only 10 per cent of its population. Those planning to retire can expect "to go broke," according to a study made by the Columbia University Bureau of Applied Research. For those in retirement, it found, the standard of living declines as rapidly as life expectancy increases.

Social Security is a major -- and sometimes the only -- source of retirement income. It is currently paying $24 billion a year in benefits, exclusive of medicare. This figure includes a 13 per cent increase voted by Congress in 1967, effective Feb. 1, 1968. By July of 1968 the National Council of Senior Citizens complained (SENIOR CITIZENS NEWS) in the SOCIAL SECURITY BULLETIN (December 1968), the increases had only restored the purchasing power of beneficiaries to the point it had been when they first came on the rolls.

President Nixon on April 14 said he would ask Congress for a cost - of - living increase in Social Security benefits -- in line with pledges that both he and Hubert H. Humphrey made during the 1968 campaign. The Social Security trust fund is currently "over - financed" by 5 to 7 per cent. Presumably any increase in benefits beyond 5-7 per cent would entail further rises in payroll taxes. Under existing legislation, these taxes will go up gradually, from the present 9.6 per cent (shared by employee and employer) on the first $7,800 of yearly earnings, to 11.8 per cent in 1987.

The Senate Committee on the AGing concluded in a recent (March 27) report that the best and perhaps only way to reduce poverty among the old people is to transfer more wealth from wage earners to the retired population through Social Security. The committee will open two days of hearings on Tuesday, April 29, in a further effort to call attention to the plight of the nation's elderly in a time of heavy inflation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

We live in shaky times. The world has a million earthquakes a year, but only one out of 10 is strong enough to be felt and only one of a thousand causes substantial damage.

Every 23 seconds a burglary is committed in America. Half of the nation's burglaries take place in small businesses, and the daily loot averages $1.2 million a day.

If you can afford to travel first class, what other way is there to go? On a recent visit to perform at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas, Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor arrived with a battalion of baggage pieces, a personal staff of eight people, four Pekingese dogs, exotic spices and 20 pounds of extrasalty white pistachio nuts.

How big is one of the 20 trillion red blood cells that keep you alive? Well, put side-by-side they would reach 116,000 miles, or nearly halfway to the moon. Spread out, they'd cover fourfifths of an acre, and if you put a cluster of 40 of them together they'd be the size of the period at the end of this sentence.

Incidentally, when a novelist writes of blood racing through his excited heroine's body, he's telling the truth. The blood can course through arteries at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

Quotable notables: "The art of acceptance is the art of making someone who has just done you a small favor wish that he might have done you a greater one."—Russell Lynes.

Littering is more than a nuisance—it's expensive. Every 12 minutes a U.S. home is destroyed by a fire starting in rubbish. The cleaning of debris from our streets costs us $800 million in taxes a year.

Have you given up cigarette smoking lately? It is estimated that 1.5 million Americans quit the habit each month. Unfortunately, no figures are available on the number who start again the next day, week or month.

Mission perilous: Evn omitting occasional dog bites, delivering the mail isn't a very safe job. A survey made the surprising discovery that the nation's 750,000 postal employes suffered half of all accidents to federal service personnel although they make up only a fourth of its membership.

Inflationary note: Caesars Palace, one of the luxury hotels at Las Vegas, as raised the top limit on individual dice and blackjack bets from $500 to $1,000 and the limit on baccarat best from $2,000 to $4,000. And if the dealers know you, you can go even higher.

Worth remembering: "A fat wife and a large barn never did any man any harm."

Big problem of the aged: Money isn't everything but it seems to be more of a worry the older you grow. Government statistics show that three out of 10 Americans 65 and over dwell in poverty, in contrast to only one in nine younger people who do.

Despite that depressing fact, more people are giving up the fight for the big dollar at an earlier age. In recent years more than half the people who have quit work and applied for social security benefits did so before reaching 65.

Science hasn't been able to establish that red-haired girls are more hot-tempered than others. It has found, however, that they are more susceptible to sunburn than blondes who, in turn, are afflicted by the sun's rays more than brunettes.

It was Jonathan Swift who observed, "I must complain that the cards are ill shuffled till I have a good hand."

TOP GM IDEA AWARD JUMPS TO $10,000

General Motors has announced a $4,000 increase in the maximum payment for its employee suggestion plan, according to Louis J. Seaton, GM vice president in charge of personnel staff.

The top award is for $10,000, effective immediately, in order to provide "added incentive for eligible employees to submit constructive suggestions," he said. This is the fifth time that the top award has been increased. During the 26-year history of the plan 2,249 maximum awards have been made, of which 130 were made last year.

WHY HAIR TURNS GRAY

When Shirley Polykoff was hunting a copy job, she was interviewed by an agency seeking someone to write copy for the Clairol account. Since Shirley had had no previous experience plugging hair preparations, she was turned down.

Eventually she caught on with Foote Cone and Belding and the Clairol billing moved to this agency shortly after. Shirley was asked to try her hand at persuading women that it was smart to change the color of their hair ("Every woman should be a redhead at least once in her life").

She came up with "Does she or doesn't she?" "Is it true blodes have more fun?" "The closer he gets the better you look," "Only her hairdresser knows for sure," and other copy concepts that have made both her and her account famous.

This is the best combination for getting merchandise off the shelves. The pages of your newspaper will tell the people in your area about the merchandise, he displays will show it to the prospects and enthusiastic salespeople to move the items is just about perfect storekeeping.

Newspaper advertising that "sells better" will bring the customers into the store. Sales-people that "sell better" will ring the cash register more often.

LOVE OF FREEDOM

Love of freedom is the extreme opposite of bitterness or hate. Love of freedom means that you have the highest respect for your fellow-man and want to give him every possible chance to make good in the world, to do whatever he most wants to do, to be what he wants to be and to live the kind of life he wants to live, so long as he injures no other person.

Love of freedom is the most constructive attitude a person can have. That is why these columns have always stressed that the best name for Friends for Freedom is not "conservative" or "right-wingers" but Constructives. But if we are to earn the right to call ourselves and to be called Constructives, we must stress what we are for much more than what we are against.

Nothing is easier than being against all the forces in he world that work to destroy freedom, but to be against these forces is not enough. We must learn more about freedom and more about our country, why they are worth saving, why none of our lives would be worth anything in an enslaved land which had once been called free Republic USA.

Apathy, ignorance and blind refusal to think are far greater enemies than any others which confront us. If America can be aroused now it can be saved, for an aroused citizenry will find out and know how to save their country and their freedom.

The enemies of freedom are not apathetic. Fellow-travelers are people who "want to get in on the act." They are deceived rather than uninformed. Ingenious Freedom-enthusiasts could convert many of them. Converts are known for their zeal, and when imbued with accurate knowledge become valiant troops in the fight for freedom. HLH.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

--North Korean War Jitters--

In February 1968, Jack Anderson flew to Korea and wrote a revealing series of articles on the belligerency of North Korea. He reported, among other things, that Premier Kim appeared to be itching for trouble with the United States.

Following the shooting down of the EC-121, many newspapers featured featured similar stories regarding North Korean belligerency, on which Mr. Anderson had informed his readers more than a year ahead.

Drew Pearson says: Presidential change is quite in Bolivia; the United States and Indian masses have lost a friend; Nixon worries about ABM decision

WASHINGTON--It didn't take the headlines of Charles DeGaulle's abdication in France, but a onetime turbulent country in Latin America last week survived tragedy and political change without turbulence.

Bolivia suffered the loss of its president, Rene Barrientos Ortuno, killed in a helicopter crash, and the vice president, Luis Adolfo Siles-Salinas quitely stepped into his shoes, without incident or revolution. Not a shot was fired in a country where a good many presidents have been shot or hanged in the past.

This highlights the fact that Bolivia, a desperately poor country, high up in the Andes, has made great progress. A few years ago peasant farmers were sold as chattels with the land. But in the last fifteen years Bolivia has undergone a social revolution. The peasants now own their land. They have taken on a new pride, a new determination to improve.

It witnessed this two years ago, when Barrientos flew with Chief Justice Earl Warren to the ancient capital of Sucre, landed on a cow pasture and drove into the heart of the city. Thousands of indians swarmed through the narrow streets. The hills were steep, the altitude high, the cobblestones rough. But the Indians ran as fast as the motor caravan carrying the Chief Justice and President Barrientos.

Dressed in rough homespun woolens and wearing thick, broad-brimmed hats of Llama hair, they thronged the public square to shout greetings to their president and the American Chief Justice. It was a demonstration of loyalty to a leader who was doing his best to improve the status of the Indian masses.

--Visit to IPA--

Two years before, President Barrientos came to the United States at my invitation, to be the chief speaker at the annual convention of the international platform association. He spoke eloquently of the problems of his country and the South American continent, mingled with North Americans, was given an official luncheon by President Johnson, and himself entertained Vice President Humphrey and N.Y. Mayor John Lindsay.

He was a believer in the principal that South Americans must help themselves--borrow money perhaps, but not go on welfare to Uncle Sam. And he carried this out. He did not confiscate a single American company. He was a good salesman, and last summer flew up to San Antonio to participate in the Hemisfair and show what Bolivia had to offer the rest of the continent. Student strikes may be new to American universities, but they were not to him. When students at the University of La Paz started rioting and dared him to enter their campus, he accepted the challenge--without a bodyguard. The troubles subsided.

As Barientos was laid to rest, his young widow, Rosa Maria, wrote a letter to new President Siles asking: "For all enemies of my husband, I ask forgiveness. That's the way he would want it to be."

--Better Than The ABM--

Some pentagon strategists have concluded that America's retaliatory power can be strengthened most effectively by spending the billions now proposed for an anti-ballistic missile system upon sea-based missles.

The whole purpose of the ABM system is to protect our strategic missiles so they can be used to retaliate against an enemy. It would be cheaper to build more polaris submarines, which would be difficult to destroy because of their maneuverability. The navy is now outfitting 31 submarines with longer-range, multiple-warhead poseidon missiles. This will give the United States 496 Poseidon missiles, each with several warheads.

An enemy wouldn't dare attack the United States unless he could find these 31 subs in their undersea hiding places and destroy them. Some experts believe these subs, scattered around the oceans, are less vulnerable than would be ABM-protected land missles.

Incidentally, the multiple warheads now being mounted on both underground and undersea missiles give the United States close to 5,000 warheads capable of striking soviet targets. Each warheads packs more destructive power than all the guns fired and all the bombs dropped by both sides during world war 3.

Meanwhile, President Nixon is having serious misgivings over the ABM system. A secret senate poll by White House aides came up with less than 50 votes for the ABM system. The president confided to these aides that he may have made a mistake in adopting his own ABM system. He now believes he should merely have gone ahead with ex-president Johnson's ABM plan without a review and the attendant publicity.

--Biggest Headache--

President Nixon's biggest personal headache has been finding experts who understand urban problems. The President's urban affairs council discussed the last week behind closed White House doors.

Bob Finch, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, finally asked Presidential aid Pat Moynihan to estimate how many urban experts there are in the country. Moynihan, himself an expert, thoughtfully replied: "Six or seven."

--High-Handed Officials--

The Philippine government was delivered an unannounced protest to the American embassy in Manila over the barring of Amadeo Cruz, the Filipino Secretary of Health, from Clark Air Force Base.

He had been invited to attend a graduation ceremony at the base hospital. But apparently it hadn't been cleared with the officer in charge of the gate, who decided to show how important he is by refusing to admit the Filipino cabinet officer to a base on Philippine soil.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW BLOODY WAR:

Reuther, Teamsters Launching New Labor Movement May 26, Will Hurl It at Cores of Inner Cities

Washington, D. C.: -- 'Tis Walter Reuther's final conflict. This is the moment for which the 61-year-old Detroit redhead has waited, and brooded, and planned, and unleashed a hundred manifestos. 'Tis the moment when, in alliance with the Teamsters, with the leftest of left-wing unionists, with money from billion-dollar foundations, with the interest from his own auto union's $85 million strike fund, he will unleash organizers into the Northern black ghettos, the Puerto Rican barrior and the Southwest Mexican-American communities.

Preparing for this ultimate moment, he has avoided his own auto union Solidarity House headquarters much of the time recently. He has traveled. He has consorted with the toughest of teamsters, and with extremist unionists he once helped oust from the old CIO.

His moment will come about 10 o'clock on the morning of Monday, May 26. He then will rise on the stage of the Washington Hilton's International Ballroom Center and hit the tocsin. With hundreds of delegates from his own and all 51 Teamsters Joint Councils, and with some scattered observers from "cooperating union organizations," Walter Reuther will launch a new labor federation. He will formalize the Alliance for Labor Action.

It would be simple to mock this new force as a strange and wealthy coalition entering the lists as the champion of "the poor and the working class."

For at Mr. Reuther's side will be the suddenly gregarious Teamsters acting president, Frank Fitzsimmons, whose instant mobility is assured by the ever-ready $1.3-million twin jet, twin-piloted union deHaviland.

Or ponder Mr. Reuther's proletarian pain when, after denouncing the AFL-CIO leaders for holding their midwinter council session in Bal Harbour, Fla., Mr. Reuther's new ally, the Teamsters General Executive Board, hold their own meeting in the posh Hotel Riviera, Las Vegas. This they did this past week.

For them, too, this is a moment of reappraisal - albeit a not very agonizing one. They're realists. For them, Mr. Reuther means respectablility, despite the current trials of men accused of attempting to loot their pension funds. With their president, Jimmy Hoffa, in prison reading books on the American presidency, they have decided the time has come to change their image. So their acting president, Frank Fitzsimmons, will stand alongside Mr. Reuther at the launching of this new movement.

For two days Messrs. Fitzsimmons and Reuther and their aides will talk of tax revolts, of new campaigns, of massive organizing and of gargantuan destruction of the slums, with blueprints for endless assembly line production of low-cost housing.

This rhetoric will not fall on deaf ears.

They'll be listening, too, in the AFL-CIO national headquarters downtown.

There is no doubt that Mr. Reuther, with Mr. Fitzsimmons trotting behind him, will declare war on the forces of the White House and the House of Labor.

This will be a formidable challenge. This is why the eerie coalition of tough Teamsters and left-wing laborite intellectuals will whip up a whirlwind in the next few years.

They will have money. Literally tens of millions of dollars if they decide to spend and spend. They will have manpower. There are at least 2,000 skilled organizers in the ALA ranks.

They will have impact. They are going into the most sensitive of urban centers. They will make promises and raise expectations on which they will have to deliver -- or face the onslaughts of the disaapointed. A lot more than their zeal will burn if the jobs and pay and security and housing to which they're pledging themselves on May 26 just don't materialize.

Walter Reuther will attempt to link all this with the national Kennedy machine. The ALA ghetto centers will be a college of forces. Each headquarters will be part settlement house, part rent strike force, part union office, part poverty agency, part community action unit, and part political clubhouse. Political battles will be waged against the established parties.

War will be declared against the established union. Just watch. It will be union brother against union brother in the big cities and wherever there is construction in the hinterland, too.

What has been a battle of words and white papers will turn into the clash of pickets and counterpickets, men against men, and if the past record is of any use at all, there will be the clash of metal against metal.

This may be a young people's world, but they'll soon discover that the old pros are swinging cats when they're doing their thing. And they're about to do it.

Food Decisions More Complex

COLUMBIA, MO. -- Are you still peeling potatoes and cooking cereals or have you switched to frozen hashed browns and instant oatmeal? The time and energy spent in the kitchen are of interest to today's busy homemakers.

Gordon E. Bivens, professor of family economics in the School of Home Economics at the University of Missouri-Columbia, interpreted a nationwide household food consumption survey conducted by the USDA to learn how the families' use the convenience foods changed over a 10-year period.

Bivens defined convenience foods as "foods which have services added to the basic ingredients to reduce the amount of preparation required in the home." Data on 32 convenience foods - including various forms of fruits and vegetables, meats, soups, flour mixtures, cereals, milk products, and other beverages -- were collected in 1955 and 1965 surveys. Some 6,000 families were interviewed in 1955 and about 7,000 in 1965.

In terms of amount used, fresh commercial juices and frozen potatoes increased about 300 percent between 1955 and 1965. Use of dried potatoes and powdered fruit drinks increased about 200 percent. Use of prepared soups also went up -- canned soups increased over 30 percent and dry soups 100 percent.

Ready-to-eat cereals had a 30 percent increase in amount used and a 90 percent increase in money spent for them. Use of instant coffee increased 125 percent while money spent for it only went up 33 percent. Overall, spending on convenience foods increased 34 percent between 1955 and 1965.

Three out of 10 consumer food dollars are spent for convenience foods.

Farm families increased their use of these foods 61 percent during this period. However, the money spent on them was still less for farm families than for the average family in the U. S. The urban family's percentage increase was less (as they used relatively larger amounts in 1955), but they were still above the national average in the use of these foods.

Bivens says that rural and urban families in all regions and at all income levels are using convenience foods but in varying amounts. He points out that family decision making about food is becoming more complex.

Do you know that there now is a variety with flowers that stay open all day?

Appropriately, it's called Daylight.

Tau Chapter Observes Anniversary

Tau Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi commemorated "Founder's Day" with a dinner April 29 at the Rustic Rock Ill. Fourteen Members and one new member, Mrs. Margaret Taylor, were present for the occasion.

Mrs. Luci Chambers served as chairman of the affairs and acted as the official greeter.

The tables were decorated with yellow candles and a floral arrangement of yellow rosebuds, which is the sorority's official flower. Place cards consisted of printed programs with each individual member's name printed on the decorated program booklet. Dinner consisted of many varieties of Chinese foods prepared by Johnnie Ham.

Jewell Bell, vice-president, gave the Founder's Day Pledge with Luci Chambers lighting the candles representing Beta Sigma Phi.

The central event of the evening and the culmination of the program consisted of a recorded speech of Walter Ross, Founder of Beta Sigma Phi. He saw a dream come true with the founding of Beta Sigma Phi in Abilene, Kansas in 1931, which has now grown from seven members to approximately 9100 Chapters and 200,000 members in the United States, Canada, and 15 foreign countries. Through this association, the members are able to enrich their lives culturally and socially. Although Beta Sigma Phi is not a civic organization, as such, it's members do experience the joy of helping others. At the close of the meeting, THE GIRL OF THE YEAR AWARD was presented to Jolene Walker for her outstanding service to the sorority this year, which was a silver bowl engraved with her name.

Politician and Horses Are Unhappy Combination

Dear Ann Landers: I've been writing this letter in my head for seven years. Finally I decided to put it down on paper. My problem is neighbors. Before I go further I'd like to make it clear that they are horses, not people.

We live in a town in Pennsylvania -- population 30,000 and going backwards. The horses belong to a two-bit politician. They are fenced in a very small area, smell terrible, draw flies and don't do anything for the landscape.

The horses breed now and then and all this goes on two blocks from the post office, right in the heart of town. During breeding season the movie houses don't do any business. Everybody comes downtown to watch.

We've complained to the Board of Health, the Humane Society, the mayor and the police, and nobody does anything because the mayor runs everything including the City Council. What do you suggest? -- Pennsylvania Problem

Dear Penn: Organize some political opposition and turn the rascals out to pasture. With them will go the horses.

Dear Ann Lander: Three years ago I went to work as a legal secretary. The wife of one of the lawyers started to call me on the phone, "just to chat." I was flattered and pleased - until the calls began to come every day and last for nearly an hour.

I became upset when Mrs. X started to call me at home, asking all sorts of questions about the office. Soon I caught on to what should have been obvious earlier. Mrs. X was a kitchen drinker.

One week she called me every single night and cried for a solid hour about her husband's abusive treatment. Then she got to talking about her "vicious" neighbors and their plot to make her move. When she told me they had her house bugged, I knew she was not only drunk but crazy. After several months of these interminable calls, I felt myself going to pieces. I had to quit my job and leave town.

Eight months have passed but that loony woman stills calls every week. She is always bombed and doesn't care what time it is. I've lost many a night's sleep and sick to death of her. What's the answer? -- Sacramento

Dear Sac: The answer is an unlisted telephone number. The fact that you didn't think of this yourself raises some questions about your need to suffer. Have you seen a doctor? If not, I strongly recommend it.

Dear Ann Landers: The girls my fiancee works with (25 of them) are giving a bridal shower for her. The party will be at the home of her maid of honor.

Bev wants me to come in about 10:30, when they start to serve the coffee and cake. She says all I have to do is say "hello." Ann, I'd rather walk into the lion cage at Lincoln Park Zoo.

I've asked around the shop and not a single guy here has ever had to do anything like this. Please give me some advice fast. -- Squirming.

Dear S: Your girl wants to show you off, Lovey -- so be a good sport and make her happy. It'll only take a few minutes and the agony will be over before you know it.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you besure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage -- What To Expect Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Cards Wonder, Drop 11th Game In St. Louis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pounding of the Kansas City Royals' bats may have given the California Angels a headache Sunday, but it was Philadelphia Phillies southpaw Grant Jackson who served up the aspirin tablets to the sluggish St. Louis Cardinals.

The fledgling Royals broke all team hitting records in their young history by whacking out 19 hits in a 15-1 trouncing of the Angels. Included in the barrage were six hits by rookie bob Oliver, matching a major league record accomplished 90 times.

Jackson scattered seven hits and permitted only one Cardinal base runner to reach third in pitching the Phillies to a 5-0 victory over St. Louis. It was the defending National League champions' 11th loss in 12 home games so far this season.

The Royals, who have today off and then venture for the first time into Eastern Division territory when they open a two-game series Tuesday night at World Champion Detroit, could not be stopped by a succession of six California pitchers.

Besides Oliver' club-record six hits—including his third home run of the season and a double— Ed Kirkpatrick got three hits and Lou Piniella, Joe Foy and pitcher Roger Nelson two each. Oliver, Piniella and Foy all drove in three runs, with Foy smacking his second homer and Piniella his third.

The Royals scored five runs in the fifth inning for a club record, then broke it with six runs in the seventh. Nelson evened his record at 2-2 with a sparkling four-hit performance, yielding two hits only in the fifth inning.

The victory gave the Royals the series, three games to one, and put them two games above m500 for the trip East, which will take them to Detroit and Baltimore.

Rich Allen, who returned to the Phillies' lineup after being AWOL for two days and fined $1,000, drove in two runs against the Cardinals. He doubled home a run in the third and hit a sacrifice fly for another in the sixth.

The sputtering Cardinals remain at home to meet San Francisco in a two-game series opening Tuesday night.

Some of the greatest men in history never owned a pair of shoes.

There's a lot to be said for boots. And fashion isn't the only reason for their popularity. Just slip them on and kick them off. Simplicity itself.

In fact, they say that a good many colorful characters of the Old West loved their boots so much that they kicked the bucket with them on.

SPORTS CORNER

What's happened to the St. Louis Cardinals?

That's a most familiar question now a days and its getting a lot of answers.

Some claim its the players wanting a managerial change, others say they were due and still others claim it was the trading during the off season that upset the rank.

It is of this writers opinion that the trading off of Orlando Cepeda is the key to the Cardinal worries.

Cepeda led the Cards into last years world series, not with his bat or glove, but with his enthusiasm and leadership. The St. Louis based club is in deep need of both right now.

Cha-Cha's leadership was a big plus in the past two season's rise to the World Series... The Cardinals will have to find another leader soon or will find themselves where they are at now... at the bottom.

Ever feel like throwing the tackle box at fish when they're not bittng? Well, it just might work.

Not the whole tackle box, of course, but fishing two or more lures at the same time is often better than using just one.

Sound like a crazy idea? Not really. It's just another of the many techniques successful anglers have been using a long time.

One double- lure method popular with lake fishermen is to use a floating plug with a chaser to catch white bass and other schooling, surface - feeding fish. The large topwater plug -- especially if it's one with spinners -- stirs up the water as would a school of minnows. The second lure, chasing along two or three feet behind, is usually a bright colored fly or small wobbler. Identified as a straggler by the prey fish, it's usually the one they will take.

A variation of this technique has been used successfully for crappie by replacing the chasing fly with a hair jib, letting it dangle several feet below and behind the plug.

Trout are sometimes taken in lakes by rigging a multiple- fly leader (several flies tied 10 to 12 inches apart), casting it lightly upon the water. It's tricky, but if done skillfully the effect is that of several insects alighting at one time. This will often tempt otherwise non-feeding fish into striking. River fishermen floating a stream find this technique effective when used with a streamer and several small wet flies tied ahead.

So, dig into that tackle box and try throwing something extra next time fishing is slow. You may find that fish agree with the adage "The more the merrier."

SHS Sports Schedule Nears End; District Track Meet Here Friday

By TERRY NOWELL
STANDARD SPORTS WRITER

This week of sporting action at SHS will see two Bulldog squads complete their local competition. Sikeston baseballers will finish their schedule with Cape Notre Dame on Wednesday and the tracksters will participate in the District meet on Sikeston's grounds Friday.

A short and maybe somewhat diasppointing season for the Bulldog nine will come to an end Wednesday. Baseballers have not had what would really be classified as a bad season this year, but a much better one had been expected by many.

Sikeston thinclads have several high prospects for their final and very important local contest in the District meet.

Tracksters have steadily improved throughout the year and several boys have really excelled in their respective events.

Among the teams participating in the contest will be Charleston, Kennett, Poplar Bluff, Cape, Perryville, Jackson, and Sikeston.

Bulldog golfers will also get into action this week as they travel to Poplar Bluff on Monday and Tuesday for their District meet.

Competition will include two nine-hole rounds with one round to be played each day.

A total of 12 teams are expected for the meet. Among them are Sikeston, Poplar Bluff, Kennett Cape, Flat River, and Dexter.

Bulldog golfers have won the District meet for the past two years, but expect to receive a big threat for the title from Cape. The Cape Central squad thus far is undefeated in match play this season.

Teachout is Runner-up in St. Louis Spelling Bee

ST. LOUIS - Sally Shoemaker, a 13-year-old 8th grader at St. Gabriel the Archangel School, correctly spelled the words perspicuous and cacophony Sunday afternoon to win the championship in the 19th annual KTVI - Globe-Democrat National Spelling Bee.

Sally, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shoemaker, 6264 Kinsey pl., outlasted students from more than 400 schools in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois in rounds of the spelling bee during the last three weeks.

She topped eight finalists Sunday, including runner-up Terry Touchout, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Teachout of Sikeston, Mo., who represented Sikeston Middle School.

Terry Teachout

Both Sally and Terry outlasted their competition by about 10 minutes. Each missed several words - including baccivorous, insessorial and cozenage - but Sally was declared the winner when she spelled perspicuous after Terry missed it and then spelled a second word correctly.

As winner, Sally will receive a portable tv, a 24-volume set of the Encyclopedia Britannica and the Britannica Book of the Year, an engraved pen and pencil, the two-volume Lincoln Library, a 1969 World Almanac, and an all-expense-paid trip for two to Washington, D. C., to compete in the national spelling bee.

Sally, a straight A student, said she practiced spelling about an hour each day to get ready for the contest. It paid off Sunday when it was necessary for her to spell such words as glaucoma, triumvirate, seismograph, quiescent and dissymmetry. She said her teacher, Sister Bertrille, SSND, also helped prepare her for the competition.

Happy New Year!

It's a great day - and the beginning of many happy new years - when you find out you have more ability than you though you had.
Those happy new years start when you break through your own mental and emotional reservations about yourself. That's when you start to use all your natural abilities (instead of operating at 10% of capacity as most people do). The confidence this gives you can lead to better jobs and higher income, too.
For over a million men and women, the happy new years have started with the Dale Carnegie Course. It teaches you new ways to think about yourself.

Marshall Urges Punishment for Unruly Militants

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The first Negro member of the U.S. Supreme Court says black militants who defy the law should be made to face the consequences.

"Anarchy is anarchy," Justice Thurgood Marshall said Sunday, "and it makes no difference who practices it, it is bad; it is punishable and it should be punished."

"You can't use color for an excuse for not doing what you should be doing," he declared.

"Race is not an excuse for not keeping up your house properly, nor is race an excuse for not keeping your children in school, even though they may still be segregated."

Marshall said he realized that "so far as race problems and minority rights go, the problems are not yet solved and I have no idea when they will be, but there has been some progress."

"The seeds are here," he added. "But nothing will be settled with guns, firebombs or rocks. The country can't survive if the perpetrators go unpunished. It's that simple."

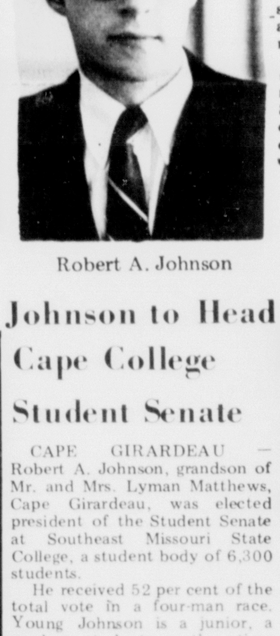

Urging Negroes to reject black militant leadership, Marshall said:

"We should stand up and say, 'Look, man, you do what you want to do and I'll do what I want to do. But don't tell me I have to do what you want me to do just because you said it.'"

The associate justice called for leadership through education, and said students demanding black studies and African culture should not discard other studies and cultures.

Heddon Tackle Box Man Draws Fishing Interest

Southeast Missouri fishing enthusiasts, novice and expert alike had a field day Friday at Wal-Mart as Risto Heikkinen famed tackle representative of the James Heddon Manufacturing Co. of Rogers, Ark., gave casting instruction, answered sportsmen's questions on various fishing problems and captivated young and old alike with his good humor, knowledge of his products, and his desire to be of service.

Kelly Jackson manager of Wal-Mart sporting goods division, said scores of interested persons made contacts with the Heddon representative during his 10-hour stay at the store and all disclosed their pleasure for the opportunity to converse, and compete briefly against a skilled piscatorial artist.

Visitors gained a first hand look at several new and proven baits, being manufactured and distributed by Heddon. Children were allowed to handle, and shoot several of Heddon's Dairy air rifles and CO2 guns, also made at Rogers.

Several feminine angels showed up to ask questions regarding how to learn to cast. Some of the more experienced ones inquired how best to fish certain baits; how to match lines with reels and rods; how to test a line on a spin rod. Fish pictures of bass, crappie, various members of the trout family, along with pickerel and musky, were given away.

Included in the new baits Daisy-Heddon is offering are a Deeper Dive Tiger, a craw-shrimp and a new version of the dependable Sonic. Old standbys, like the Lucky 13, so named when Mr. Heddon gained a big catch on Friday 13, years ago are available in three different weights. The Tiger Cub and a really BIG Tiger, the vet meadow mouse, the slim Cobra, and the River Runt catagory, are all joining the venerable Chugger Spook and the Crazy Crawler to attack attention. Some veteran angelers were still interested in the Zarragossa, Basser, Vamp and the old Torpedo lure -- all results of the elder Mr. Heddon's fine whittling ability, years ago.

The youngsters also were interested, right on down to the three year olds. One class of youngsters begged their teacher so hard to "let us see the fish" that she responded. Then there was little three-year-old Jimmy Gipson, who, after watching his mother, Mrs. Linda Gipson, receive some casting instructions from Keikkinen, came up begging to "hold it too."

Co. of Rogers, Ark. discusses the merits of Heddon rods, reels and lines with Wal-Mart manager Claude Hayes (center) and sporting goods division manager Kelly Jackson (right), with the World's Largest Tackle Box - - the Heddon display truck -- in the background. Keep It Beautiful
If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.
But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.
It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts.
This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Girl Sues Bathing Suit Maker for Embarassment

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Shapely Vera bought a one-piece bathing suit that held fast going around the curves. And, while it had no hooks, there were plenty of eyes on it when Vera emerged from the pool at a fancy country club.

It seemed that the water, as someone observed loud enough for Vera to hear, had made the bathing suit transparent. Looking down at her stomach, Vera quickly confirmed the fact that her tummy-tum-tummy was plainly visible. She made a wild dash for the locker room and sued the manufacturer of the suit for her humiliation.

"He was careless in making a suit that you could see through when wet," complained Vera in court. "I'm a virtuous woman and, in that bathing suit, you could see it."

"First of all," answered the manufacturer, "I didn't know it could happen. And second, what's so terrible if you could see her stomach? It wasn't so horrible to look at. And, what else you could see, she's not saying. So what's the big deal?"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the manufacturer pay for Vera's embarrassment?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that even though the bathing suit became transparent, there was no evidence that personal parts of her body were viewable. The fact that certain areas could be seen, concluded the judge, wasn't so serious.

Case for Crime Chromosome Challenged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Perhaps 200,000 American males have the "XYY" genetic makeup that is being linked with impulses to commit violent crimes, a psychiatrist said today.

But "there is growing evidence that many XYY individuals are stable, law-abiding citizens," Dr. Gerald R. Clark of Elwyn, Pa., declared. "It appears that the XYY male in general has been falsely stigmatized."

Normally each body cell has 46 chromosomes, the carriers of genes that determine inherited characteristics. They receive an X chromosome from the mother, and a Y from the father. Occasionally, some accident adds an extra Y or X chromosome.

For several years there has been speculation that men with the XYY chromosome were genetically inclined toward aggressive criminal behavior. In courts, defense attorneys have argued that such men were not responsible for their crimes.

Reporting new studies to the American Psychiatric Association in convention here, Dr. Clark said the frequency with which XYY men are involved in crime and other antisocial behavior "may not be appreciably different from the average citizen."

Dr. Clark is president of the Elwyn Institute, which began a study of the XYY chromosome in 1966. He is also associate professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

universities and colleges for the coming year. Rep. Thomas D. Graham D-Jefferson City, threw the House into an uproar last Tuesday by trying to boost the committee - cut appropriations for the schools back to the levels recommenced by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The House quit for dinner and when members cme back to work that night the appropriations chairman, Rep. E. J. (Lucky) Cantrell, D-Overland, attempted to continue the debate on the money bills. He was blocked out by the majority floor leader, Rep. Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis.

The Senate could get busy on some of the revenue producing bills, including the House - passed measure to increase the corporate and individual income tax rates. Latest estimates put the increased revenue from individual income tax rate boosts at $34 million and from corporate incomes $36 million.

Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, the President Pro Tem of the Senate, has a bill of his own to boost corporate income taxes only. After the House- passed bill on both corporate and individual income taxes came out of Senate committee, 7-3, last Wednesday, Blackwell served notice he would oppose any increase in individual tax rates.

dropped in strategic places by Wolfson and his business associate, Elkin Gerbert, in their effort to stay out of prison."

The Justice Department, meanwhile, said it "is aware of the contents of the article in Life magazine and currently has the matter under consideration."

Fortas' statement, issued two hours after he had driven to the court on an otherwise quiet Sunday, began: "I have not accepted any fee or emolument from Mr. Wolfson or the Wolfson Family Foundation or any related person or group."

Fortas went on to say he met Wolfson in 1965, before going on the Court, after a Wolfson company had retained his old law firm.

The Justice said the foundation offered the fee "in the hope that I would find time and could undertake, consistently with my court obligations, research functions, studies and writings connected with the work of the foundation."

Food Plan Far Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $8.8 million federal program aimed at improving diets for nearly a quarter-million impoverished mothers and children is far behind schedule and 50 per cent below the target.

The program's intent is to supply a $7.00 package of nutrients iron-enriched cereal, fruit juice, canned meat—each month to malnourished families.

But, after six months, the program has reached less than 100,000 of the target figure of 225,000 mothers and children.

However, the Nixon administration will continue to press the project which was initiated by the Johnson administration, along with other federal food programs, say Agriculture Department officials. The administration has asked for $15 million increase in the department's food program budget overall.

The problem centers on poor federal-local cooperation and little local awareness of what all department programs can and should do, spokesmen say. Without cooperation, little can be done, they add.

The Department hopes to cure some of the trouble with an educational campaign among labor unions, churches, business groups and universities.

Freeman said it is expected the department will make its original target for the special food packages sometime later this year. In 1970 the program is intended to reach a million mothers, infants and children up to the age of six years. The cost estimate for this level is $140 million a year.

"The enthusiasm is there," Freeman says. But it's only in places like the district (Washington, D.C.) which have some uncommitted resources available that makes it possible to get moving."

The program was limping along in Washington until mid-April when a Senate committee under Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., took to the city to probe hunger conditions.

Only 20,465 persons were receiving the special packages but the project was immediately expanded to include 45,000 after the investigation.

Wilson Defies Rebel Factions

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the rebels in his Labor party Sunday they won't divert his government from its task of trying to put the British economy in the black.

Addressing opponents of his antistrike legislation who launched a "Wilson must go" campaign last week, the British leader said: "I know what is going on. I am going on. Your government is going on.

"I do not intend to allow this government to be diverted from its task by petty divisions on policies, procedures and personalities."

Wilson warned rebellious factions in the party: "If this Labor movement insists on weakening itself by divisive action, the only beneficiaries will be the Tories, and I mean the possibility of a Tory government elected as a result of our divisions."

Unpopular austerity measures and proposed legislation to curb wildcat strikes are "priorities of government against an economic background, against a world background, which has been changing rapidly for the past 20 years," Wilson said.

"The Tories never faced up to that change. That is why we have inherited the continuing problem of paying our way in the world," he declared.

The government's restrictions on wages and spending have brought the Labor government's popularity to its lowest ebb in five years. And its attempt to curb crippling wildcat strikes has enraged trade unionists and leftwingers who get up in arms at any interference with union rights.

Labor stalwarts appear to be in for a major disaster this week in the election of local councilmen in 320 boroughs and more than 400 urban districts of England and Wales, and in 196 boroughs in Scotland. Forecasts indicate the party stands to lose control of every British city of more than 100,000 population, its worst showing in 38 years.

The Labor party strength has declined steadily since 1964, losing 2,750 seats on local councils.
